Cuba Refugees Jam Exit Port, Scores Arrive

KEY WEST, Fla., (UPI)—Coast Guard cutters intercepted five more boatloads of Cuban refugees in the choppy Florida Straits today and guided them toward this "freedom port."

A Coast Guard spokesman in Miami said radio reports indicated the five boats contained "either 103 or 104 Cubans." This would bring to nearly 500 the total number of refugees who have come to the United States under Communist Premier Fidel Castro's open door policy.

Meanwhile, an estimated 6,000 persons were reported to be waiting at the embarkation port of Camarioca on Cuba's north coast where Castro has set up a "propaganda paradise" with good food and free marine fuel, according to one observer.

The boats en route here across the 90 miles of open water today were identified as the cabin cruiser Cheo with 10 persons aboard; the Flying-G II, with 47 aboard; the Hilda, with 27 aboard; the Always, with 15 aboard; and a boat identified only by number as the FL-1266OF with 4 or 5 Cubans aboard.

Before today, more than 400 refugees had made the trip since Castro announced his new policy over a week ago.

Millions To Come?

One of those arriving late Sunday night, Havana taxi driver Antonio Fernandez, predicted that three million Cubans will enter this country by the end of 1968 if the exit and entry routes stay open.

Washington officials have been more conservative, setting the number of Cubans they expect to come to this country at about 42,000.

At least 24 other refugees arrived here earlier Sunday and one small band of sunburned refugees arrived in New Orleans after drifting for days in the Gulf of Mexico.

Three more boats were expected to arrive here early today with 62 persons aboard.

Reports from the embarkation point of Camarioca said the number of boats had become so great that the military force was doubled there and Cuban officials feared Cuban refugees would attempt to swim to the boats in their anxiety.

Takes 16 Hours

Fernandez and his companions made the 90-mile trip in the "Mimo" in about 16 hours. The boat was manned by four exiles and one of them, fisherman Agustin Rivero, brought back his wife and three daughters, aged 19, 8 and 4.

They had not seen Rivero since he escaped from Cuba in 1962 in a fishing boat.

"I was the only one on my block who was not a Communist," said the beaming Mrs. Rivero as she hugged her husband. "They watched me constantly."

Foreign Policy Critics Plan March On Capitol

By United Press International
Critics of U.S. foreign policy, encouraged by weekend demonstrations which drew thousands of persons into the streets of American cities to protest the war in Viet Nam, looked ahead today to a march on Washington.

A nationwide "call to mobilize the conscience of America" by marching on the capital was issued in a handbill circulated in Chicago Sunday night at an anti-war meeting.

Meanwhile, there were indications of a possible investigation into the operation of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), one of the participants in the demonstrations. The group has started a campaign to encourage servicemen and draft eligible men to become conscientious objectors and avoid military service.

The date for the proposed march on Washington was Nov. 27, the day after the conclusion of a scheduled four-day convention of the National Coordinating Committee to end the war in Viet Nam, which directed the weekend protests.

Frank Emspak, chairman of the National Coordinating Committee, hailed the demonstrations from his headquarters in Madison, Wis., and said there would be similar action in the future.

"I think the government got the message," Emspak said. "The message was that a very large number of people disagree with American policy in Viet Nam. Our expectations were wonderfully fulfilled."

Emspak said demonstrations were held in about 60 cities and more than 100,000 persons participated. Before the weekend, the committee had predicted demonstrations in more than 100 U.S. cities.

The two largest demonstrations were held at New York City, where an estimated 13,000 persons paraded up Fifth Avenue, and in Berkeley, Calif., where a march to the Oakland Army Terminal was twice turned back by police. Violence marked both events, with demonstrators being on the receiving end.

Violence Marks Weekend

At that time, Miller said he was making a political protest against the draft and the war in Viet Nam.

The FBI said the event was filmed and later shown on network television.

Miller was identified as a former student at Lemoyne College in Syracuse, N.Y., and formerly had a student deferment from the draft.

The draft-card burning by Miller was a highlight of a three-day protest by college students and others opposing U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

As Miller set fire to the draft card with a cigarette lighter, counter-demonstrators gathered nearby shouted, "traitors, traitors."

Miller said that he had taken the action "because I don't believe in conscription."

As the flames ate through the card, cheers and applause arose from the group of demonstrators.

Before he left the rally, Miller told newsmen, "I am proud of what I did."

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Municipal court trial of 35 anti-Viet Nam demonstrators arrested Friday for a sit-in at a Selective Service office here, was scheduled for next Friday.

Three other demonstrators, all girls, pleaded no contest to trespass charges Saturday and were fined $20 to $50.

Those scheduled for trial before Municipal Judge Francis O'Brien next Friday include University of Michigan Sociology Professor Thomas Mayer, and four teaching fellows at U-M.

All are out on $100 bond, posted Saturday. Thirty four of the demonstrators had been held at the Washtenaw County Jail until Saturday night because of a group of about 250 sympathizers who attempted to picket the jail outside.

They were refused release until the pickets dispersed. Then they were released in pairs to avoid the possibility of a disturbance in the street.

All the demonstrators had been arrested at the Social Security office when they refused to leave after the office closed. Most of them insisted on being carried from the building.

Police Battle Peron Rioters In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—A force of 5,500 riot police used tear gas, truncheons and water cannon Sunday in a five-hour pitched battle with 800 supporters of exiled dictator Juan D. Peron. The Peronists fought back with bricks, stones and bottles.

It was the 20th anniversary of Peron's assumption to power in Argentina. Violence had been feared, and authorities were ready for it.

Police battled the Peronist demonstrators, including many women, through the central part of Buenos Aires.

No Gunfire Reported

Two policemen and an undetermined number of demonstrators were injured, but except for a few scattered pistol shots there was no gunfire.

Federal police chief Nicholas Rodriguez reported that 659 Peronists were arrested.

The riots began about dusk near South Side Park when Peronists commandeered several buses and overturned the vehicles as barricades against mounted policemen.

After nightfall, a group of about 800 torch-bearing Peronists tried to march on the congress building. When met by police, the rioters dumped gasoline at a street intersection, set it afire and retreated behind the flames. Other Peronist bands roamed the streets, setting fire to trees and shrubbery.

Ignites Demonstrations

The current Mrs. Juan D. Peron was conspicuously absent from the scene.

The demonstrations had been sparked by the arrival a week ago of the present Mrs. Juan D. Peron who lives in Spain with the 70-year-old exile. She is a 32-year-old former cabaret dancer whom Peron met in Panama nine years ago.

Super Highway Carries Bikes

LANSING (UPI)—Probably the busiest four-mile stretch of "super highway" in Michigan is one that entwines the Michigan State University campus.

It is a stretch of paved, dual lane roadway complete with interchanges and exit ramps that is used to carry 8,000 bicycles registered at MSU. It is complete with traffic signs such as "watch out for pedestrians."

Last year the owners of 7,200 registered bicycles used the paths to pedal back and forth between classes, dormitories, and recreation areas on the 4,900 acre campus.

Most students use bikes because of a ban on student autos due to the limited amount of on-campus parking space. The university also operates a bus system to help in the transportation problem.

Federal Pay Raise Approval Expected

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Civil Service Committee planned today to vote formal approval to legislation providing a one-year, 3.6 percent pay boost for government workers.

A pay bill—acceptable to the Johnson administration—was also expected to be passed by the Senate Tuesday or Wednesday with final congressional approval to follow quickly. House and Senate leaders were shooting for congressional adjournment by the weekend.

The Senate bill was estimated to cost $441.4 million in higher wages and fringe benefits, retroactive to Oct. 1. This was a heavy cut from the two-year, $1.5 billion pay bill voted by the House.

Higher Than Asked

The Senate pay raise, however, was still considerably higher than President Johnson's original request for a one-year, three percent increase with a price tag of $410 million.

House leaders have indicated that they would not block the Senate bill once it was passed and sent to a joint conference

A WEARY MEMBER of a mine rescue team emerges from the Mars No. 2 mine of the Clinchfield Coal Co. near Sardis, W. Va., Sunday after failing to free seven miners trapped by an early morning fire. Six of the men were found dead in the mine and the seventh died en route to a hospital. (AP Wirephoto)

Rescuers Find Six Coal Miners Dead

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—Six miners trapped deep underground when fires broke out in a soft coal mine near here late Saturday night were found dead today. A seventh man was brought out alive Sunday night but died a few minutes later.

"I don't believe it, I don't believe it, I have to stay here and see for myself," cried the wife of Clell Leedy, 53, when rescue workers brought word they had found the last four bodies—those of Leedy and three miners huddled together in an area behind one of the fire areas. The miners had died of suffocation.

It was a heartbreaking end to a 30-hour rescue effort. It came only a short time after rescuers found signs which spurred hopes the last four might be alive.

The four bodies were found about five hours after rescue workers recovered the bodies of the two other men.

The seven men were trapped at about midnight (EDT) Saturday when fires broke out in four separate passages of the Clinchfield Coal Co.'s Mars No. 2 mine.

Short Circuited

The fires were triggered by short circuit caused when an electrical cable was cut by a "continuous miner," a large machine which digs out coal and moves it into cars on a conveyor.

Workers inched their way deep inside the fire-ravaged mine tunnels for nearly 20 hours before coming upon

Charles Lantz, 26, of Buckhannon.

He was brought out alive but died of his injuries en route to a hospital.

Early today rescue workers found the bodies of Carl Banish, 45, of Lost Creek, father of 10 children, and Kenneth Kerr, 53, of Bellington, father of three.

Then the rescue crew, headed by Andrew Spote, Vice President of the Clinchfield Company, found signs which raised their hopes for the four other men.

First they found arrows and other symbols, written in chalk which all coal miners carry with them. Each symbol had a time marked on it. The last time mark found was 3:30 a.m. (EDT) Sunday.

Then workers found a piece of wooden planking on which the names of the four men had been written.

But less than an hour later rescuers came upon the four bodies huddled in a chamber behind the last fire area, near the extremity of a tunnel two and one-half miles from the mine entrance.

The four were Leedy, of Bluefield, who was the foreman of the lost crew; Andy Kurusz, 44, of Galloway; Isaac Moats, 39, of Moatsville, and Robert Savage, 37, of Rosemont.

Their weeping wives were at the mine entrance when the bodies were brought up.

Spote said it appeared the four men attempted to work their way to the entrance of the mine after the fires broke out, but were driven back by smoke.

The signs they drew showed they then backtracked deeper into the mine in search of a place where the air was fresh and where they could barricade themselves against the smoke.

"Apparently they stayed there for some time," Spote said. "And then they began an attempt to find another escape route. They worked their way back to the area where we found the other men. Apparently the bad air got them there."

Spot Nike-Type Missiles; One Out Of Control

SAIGON, (UPI)—U.S. Navy pilots who destroyed a third Soviet-built missile site in Communist North Viet Nam told today of spotting five or six of the Nike-type rockets, including one "snaking around the ground" out of control amid smoke and flame.

Cmdr. Harry B. Southworth, 37, of Mexico, N.Y., was flight leader for the five planes from the carrier USS Independence which knocked out the portable surface-to-air (SAM) missile installation Sunday 32 miles northeast of Hanoi, the Red capital, with 500 and 1,000-pound bombs.

"One of them had cooked off—something like a balloon with the air rushing out—and it was snaking around the ground," the upstate New York flier said. "It was kind of comical, really."

Meet Heavy Fire

The planes were four A4 Skyhawks and a two-man A6A Intruder. They encountered heavy automatic weapons and 37 MM. anti-aircraft fire but none was hit. No enemy planes were encountered.

The Skyhawk pilots besides Southworth included Lt. Cmdr. J.B. Davis, Selma, Ala.; Lt. Jg. C.F. Mosler, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Lt. R.L. Koffarnus, Aurora, Ill. Aboard the Intruder was Lt. Cmdr. Cecil E. Gerber, Mount Crawford, Va., and navigator-bombardier Lt. Jg. Kenneth E. Jones, Kirksville, Mo.

It was the first announced attack on missile sites by Navy pilots.

"They left behind blazing, heavily damaged radar vans, exploding unlaunched missiles and burning and banded transport vehicles," he added.

"The missiles were snaking around the ground, out of control" after the raid, one of the pilots reported.

Four U.S. planes are known to have been downed by the SAM missiles since the initial July 23 attack. No rockets were fired at the attackers Sunday.

Chinese Claim 664

Communist China, quoting North Vietnamese officials, claimed Sunday 664 American planes have been shot down in the North since Aug. 5, 1964.

The U.S. spokesman said the site destroyed Sunday had "all of its portable equipment in place." There have been no reports recently of any U.S. planes being shot down by the SAM rockets.

Two U.S. Marines were killed Sunday when their H34 helicopter crashed in the Hue-Phu Bai region, 400 miles north of Saigon. There were eight persons aboard the helicopter, which was heading to Phu Bai from a re-supply mission.

Kansas Wife Kills 4 Kids

LAUREL, MD. (UPI)—The wife of a former Kansas congressman apparently went berserk early today and shot her four children to death as they slept, police said.

Mrs. Denver D. Hargis, 37, had called her husband at his Vienna, Va., home twice threatening the lives of the children. The couple had been separated for three months, police said.

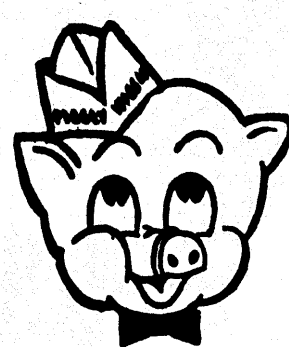

State police at the nearby Waterloo barracks were notified by Hargis who said there might be "serious trouble" at his wife's apartment.

Police found the doors and windows of the apartment locked but they could see the feet of several of the children protruding from under blankets on a bed.

Using crowbars, the state policemen entered the apartment. Three of the youngsters, Brenda, 2, Michael, 8, and Sandra Hargis, 12, were dead. The fourth, Debra, 5, died en route to a Fort Meade hospital. All had been shot once in the head with a .23 calibre pistol.

Mrs. Hargis was picked up a short time later in her automobile on a downtown street.

A homicide charge was expected to be filed against her later today, police said.

Democrats Hail Legislative Effort

By JEAN WORTH

Upper Peninsula Democrats conferring in Escanaba Saturday sang "My Heart Belongs to Soapy" but it was U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart who punched out the strongest impression.

The gathering of 175 Democrats at a luncheon meeting in the Sherman Hotel, following a morning review of state legislative achievements at the Escanaba Area High School, gave former Governor G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams a standing ovation when he was introduced.

Williams is now U.S. undersecretary of state for African affairs and although some political observers thought that as far as state office is concerned, although he said "One of these days I'm not going to leave. I'm always here in my heart, anyway."

"I congratulate everyone on the new face of the Upper Peninsula. Your effort and the national administration's dedication to a growth economy are some of the things now here that were necessary in the past. In Africa, every nation is trying to build itself, so this effort is part of my being."

"The things that Congress and the State House (Michigan Legislature) have done are tremendous. What has really happened is that many things that we have been trying to achieve for many years have been written into law. We have not accomplished every one, but we have cleared the board so we can release a whole new body of aspirations."

One Party Rule

"Africa has one-party nations and many of them are not really nations at all. They are using the political party to unify the country and break down tribalism. Their first purpose was to achieve independence with one party. In our own country no one ran against Washington and we didn't have another political party for a long time."

"Similarly with us today, our parties have functions to perform. We have achieved national aspirations. But today, with half the world going to bed hungry, there is no stability or chance for peace until the people of the world have a decent kind of living."

"Africa doesn't have enough protein, but the real hunger is a spiritual hunger for freedom and self-government and equal dignity with the other peoples of the world."

Praises Williams

Williams said that Chinese Community Leader Mao Tse-tung's strategy of war was not to attack the cities frontally, but to take over the countryside and strangle the cities. Africa has been called the countryside for Europe and Latin America the countryside for the United States in this process.

Senator Hart said "America's image in Africa is good because it is tested by a man who represents America and he was produced by Michigan Democrats. We preached a much better game here than we practiced until we got Mennen Williams."

Hart said, "we have been so occupied (this year) with performance that I had to go back and find out what the promise was. For once the promise fell short of the performance."

"Why, with 40 or 50 new Democratic congressmen was there a 1964 crisis? It was a crisis of politics of the far right. It is a classic irony that the major credit for our progress must be given to the persons who are least willing to accept it."

Parks Are Near

"The United States was propelled into progress by political forces that advocated the opposite. We passed legislation that had withered on the vine for years. The election of President Johnson left no one in doubt about national wishes. "This is Senator McNamara's year. A lot of older people are going to be better for medicare, so all of us will feel better about it."

"Both national parks—Sleeping Bear Dunes and Pictured Rocks—will be a reality in a year or two years by the outside. History is sure to say: 'Why did they wait so long and why didn't they make them bigger?' We won't be here to explain it; we damned near died getting this much."

Hart said the U.S. hopes to persuade Canada into letting us draw some water from Canadian sources into the Great Lakes basin. It would be very costly, he said, but the ratio of benefits to costs would be 10 to 1 and the abandonment of cities would be avoided. "Canada thinks it's best for the U.S. now, but it may eventually see that it's a benefit for the both of us."

Clevenger Speaks

Reviewing national legislation to keep the Democratic platform promises, Hart said "With twice the gross national product of the Soviet Union, why don't we move twice as fast? I hope that will be the traditional goal of our party. The strongest thing in the world is still an idea. That's all Karl Marx had when he was working in a London garret and now 40 per cent of the globe is communist."

Congressman Raymond Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) said that he had been back to his 20,000 square mile district 21 times since January.

"We have the greatest legislative record of any Congress and it came about by the hard work of many dedicated and loyal people," said Clevenger, "but if we pause here we will have failed."

"We must set up implementation in the Upper Peninsula of every federal program, and if the private economy wants to help, that is good too."

Party Leaders Heard

"I feel sort of sorry for the Republican organization up here. We know how it is to be out of power and pleading to keep politics out of public office. But we should see that our programs have purpose and that we act not because Soapy or Phil Hart are nice guys, but because we have programs to help the U.P."

The Democratic party brass heard in the day long program included: Zoltan Ferency, state chairman; Miss Adelaide Hart, vice-chairman; Neil Staebler, national Committeeman; Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, national committeewoman; Wilma Weinberg, state director of "Operation Support," and State Representatives Einar Erlandsen and Russell Hellman and Carmen Dellquadi of the State Board of Education.

Mrs. Burnette Staebler directed a skit which lampooned conservatism (Zoltan Ferency was the conservative senator) with a cast including: James Chapekis, Mrs. Eleanor Sullivan, Jim Harrison, John Buckbee, William Burgette, Adelaide Hart, Mrs. Babe Carpenter and Mrs. Fred Lesica of Manistique.

Mrs. Elnora Vader of Escanaba was conference chairman and Mrs. Joseph Herro headed the host Delta County Democratic Women's Club.

Low Pay Group Has Role For War On Poverty

Emphasis was placed on the direct role low income people can play in implementing economic opportunity programs in the two day orientation workshop for U.P. Community Action Agencies which was completed Friday in Escanaba.

Members of the six multi-county CAA's (Alger - Marquette; Chippewa-Luce-Mackinac; Dickinson-Iron; Gogebic-Ontonagon; Baraga-Houghton-Keweenaw; and Delta-Menominee-Schoolcraft) were given an opportunity in the meeting to work with U.P. (Upper Peninsula) Committee for Area Progress and the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity in developing a work program prior to beginning actual operation.

The CAA's were provided for under Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as a means of bringing total community effort into the implementation of economic opportunity programs. The Economic Opportunity Act, basis of the federal War on Poverty, set up programs of education, vocational training, neighborhood improvement, loans, and others, to provide disadvantaged persons with the opportunity to develop their full potential.

Directors Named
One of the first tasks of the CAA's will be to identify the nature of the poverty in their areas and then to seek out public and private groups which can best carry out the programs. James Galvin, of the Chicago Office of Economic Opportunity stressed that the CAA's do not exist to take over existing programs, but to coordinate and relate the various systems in a concerted effort, using existing agencies wherever possible. These may be public agencies such as social welfare, health, and educational facilities, or private groups such as service clubs, church groups, and PTA's, said Bowden.

Also stressed at the CAA workshop was the importance of communications to the program. It was mutually agreed that there should be an extensive network of communications to the general public to acquaint them with facets of the economic opportunity programs and progress being made. U.P. CAA, which has been implementing E.O. A programs while the CAA's were being organized and funded, will continue to give technical assistance to the CAA's.

At least 25% of the membership must come from the group served.

Dr. E. V. Bowden U.P. CAA executive director, said, "Low income people should not be involved to tell them what the program can do for them, but for what they can contribute personally. This is the reason for the stipulation in the Act."

Members of low income groups will be recruited as area representatives to work with the people in each of the community action districts in:

1. Supplying information to the people on economic opportunity programs available to them.
2. Gathering statistical and other information by direct contact with the people to enable the CAA's to know how to serve them.
3. To assist in the actual operation of the programs. The area representatives will go through a concentrated training course at one of the universities, prior to going into the field.

Loans Income's Role
In pointing out the importance of the low income people to the success of the CAA's, Frank Mead, U.P. CAA community action development specialist, said, "Planning and policy decisions must come from a broadly representative group."

College Greet 1,500 Sunday

Over 1,500 people visited Bay de Noc Community College Sunday. Joseph Heirman, chairman of the college Board, said "it was gratifying to see the large number of people attending, not only from the immediate Escanaba area, but from the outlying district as well. The Board members also appreciated the work of the college faculty and student government members as hosts and guides in making a good afternoon for the large number of people."

Many people needed guides to find their way, because the structure (college building — the former Escanaba High School) has been split into three separate units, Catherine Bonifas Hall, the Student Center, and West Hall. In addition, many of the partition changes have obliterated old traffic patterns and recognizable rooms.

Three floors of Catherine Bonifas Hall, including all classrooms and laboratories, the Student Center (old gymnasium) and West Hall, administrative offices on the ground floor only, have been re-planned and were open. This completes all of the intended change to the structure and is sufficient to handle enrollments until the fall of 1967, as presently forecast.

President Richard Rinehart said the open house, "The college certainly appreciates the enthusiasm of the people in this excellent turnout and the helpful suggestions made by guests. We also wish to thank the many people who aided in making the open house a success, including the public support given by the local labor unions."

Escanaba Host To Coast Guard Chief On Sunday

WASHINGTON — U.S. Coast Guard Commandant Admiral Edwin J. Roland will return to the Upper Great Lakes next weekend for his first official visit in more than a decade, visiting Escanaba on Sunday, with a reception and dinner planned at the House of Ludington.

Joined by Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) and Rear Admiral Willard Smith, 9th Coast Guard District commander, Admiral Roland will inspect installations at Alpena, Rogers City, Cheboygan, Charlevoix, Sault Ste. Marie, Menominee, Escanaba and Houghton.

The Coast Guard's top ranking officer, Admiral Roland and his party will be in northern lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula Oct. 22-25.

The tour was arranged at request of Congressman Clevenger, who said rapid increase in pleasure boating make it advisable to have the commandant personally aware of the need for expanded Coast Guard operations.

Admiral Roland, then a commander, was the first commanding officer in 1944 of the newly commissioned Cutter

Mackinaw, then, as now, stationed at Cheboygan. The Mackinaw was the first heavy duty U.S. icebreaker ever built and specially designed for work on the Great Lakes.

In 1932-34 Admiral Roland was a junior officer aboard the Cutter Escanaba at Grand Haven. Named after the City of Escanaba, the cutter was sunk in World War II in the Atlantic.

In 1946, after his command of the Mackinaw, Admiral Roland was assigned to 9th Coast Guard District headquarters in Cleveland, of which Admiral Smith is now commander.

A graduate of Charlevoix High School, Admiral Smith is also a former commanding officer of the Mackinaw.

Both men are graduates of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn.

The inspection tour will start at Alpena Friday Oct. 22. The next day the group will go to Rogers City, Cheboygan, Charlevoix and Sault Ste. Marie. On Sunday, Oct. 24 they will visit Menominee and Escanaba. The tour ends Oct. 25 in Houghton.

County Apportionment

Delta County Board of Supervisors, like the other boards of the Upper Peninsula, tackled the problem of reapportionment at its annual meeting on Oct. 11.

The action was necessitated by the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that one-man, one-vote shall be the national law for apportionment.

Apportionment means the distribution of members of a legislative body over the population. The name describes the process that apportions the county board of supervisors, or the city council or the state legislature or congress among the voters.

It might seem a simple matter of, say, electing 20 supervisors to represent 20,000 or one supervisor for every 1,000 persons. But it isn't that simple. Once an apportionment system is created, it is very difficult to change it because the office holders and the areas which would lose representation by change fight it like sin.

There is gross inequity in the Delta County apportionment of supervisors today and this same condition prevails in all Upper Peninsula counties. Delta's Bay de Noc Township has only 266 population and one supervisor and one vote on the county board. Wells Township has 3,295 population and only one supervisor and one vote on the county board.

The Supreme Court has said that this sort of thing is illegal and must end; that every American's vote is equal and that when there is such misapportionment some voters are substantially disfranchised.

The inequity in apportionment can be corrected in several ways. The simplest would be to create new districts of equal population and elect a supervisor from each. Or the old districts could be retained and given a vote value proportionate to their population. This latter plan would mean that some supervisors would have one vote and some several—or a handful. This latter plan is cumbersome and poor, with an inequity still persisting because some people would have more supervisor service than others, even if the voting power were equal.

Delta County Board of Supervisors' deliberations on the issue brought expressions that revealed an understanding of the problem by at least some of the supervisors. Supervisor Grey Knaus of Cornell said Delta might come out of reapportionment with 10 or 15 members, but that it wasn't realistic to try to retain the present number of 27 supervisors. Escanaba Mayor George Rusch suggested that a 27-member board is unwieldy but that a proposed 5 member board (suggested by one apportionment study for small population counties like Delta) would be too few for present day government.

But there were only a few "nay" votes when the board voted on the recommendation of its Public Affairs Committee that the 27-man board be retained in reapportionment.

We credit the supervisors who voted for such a policy with sincere belief that this is good public policy, and they are experienced in board operation of the county government and their judgment is to be respected. They cannot sensibly be accused of trying to perpetuate themselves in office because there cannot be any retention of present voting patterns under any acceptable reform.

But the supervisors who voted that way are too close to the forest to see the trees. It is inconceivable that if Delta County government were started from scratch today it would be set up on present lines. It developed its present organization in horse and buggy days. Modern transportation has made unnecessary the present number of townships, but it may be impossible to dissolve them as governmental entities. The supervisors, however, are gradually being replaced by professional taxing officers so that important function of the rural supervisor is no longer really necessary.

The simple fact of life about Delta County population, which will control the county board under the new national one-man, one-vote law, is that more of its people live in the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone than in all the 14 rural townships. And the city trend of population increases. There are 20,658 persons in the two cities, according to the 1960 census, and 13,610 in the townships. The present apportionment of the board is 14 supervisors and taxing officials from the cities and 13 from the townships, so the present apportionment is even more unfair to the townships with large population than to the cities.

The experience which 27 members bring to a board's deliberations doesn't impress political scientists. They equate it more with confusion and compromise than with decision and progress. And of course it's needlessly expensive.

The best reason for a small board is not economy, but quality. It should be harder to get elected to a 5-man board than a 27-man board and the difference should work for board quality and excellence of government.

There seems to us to be a serious confusion of staff and line functions in the present structure of the board with a city assessor as a member. Presumably he was named because the elected rural supervisors are township assessors, but the function of the county board should be to set policy, not administer it: the assessor should be a line officer, not staff. But this should be taken care of under the Supreme Court's dictum that representatives shall represent people, not offices, nor geographical areas.

Reapportionment offers the counties a chance to restructure their governments for its improvement. Keeping present board numbers is starting off on the left foot.

Practical Education?

Critics of modern education complain that much of the information students receive today is impractical and of little use in everyday living.

Their attention is directed to an orientation program offered by Michigan Technological University, at Houghton.

Located in the upper Michigan peninsula, in the midst of almost 10 million acres of forest, Michigan Tech provides its freshmen with a course in wilderness survival.

Can you be more practical than that? asks Newspaper Enterprise Association's editorial service.

Ask The Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D. D. S. and Michigan Dental Assn.

Q I have dentures which fit poorly and keep the inside of my mouth red and swollen most of the time. My friends tell me I'll have to go without my teeth for a couple of weeks before a good impression can be taken. I'm a salesman and just can't afford this. Isn't there a new method for a problem like mine?

A. While it may not be necessary to go without your dentures for a couple of weeks to permit the tissues of your mouth to be suitable for taking good impressions, most denture specialists recommend a rest period of from one to several days. During that time mild mouth rinses, such as a salt and baking soda mixture, or one of the more mild mouth washes available, must be used frequently.

Many dentists now use a "tissue-conditioning reline material" in an irritating, poorly fitting denture. This material sets slowly and adapts itself to the contours of the tissue in two or three days time. It is soothing to the inflamed areas, and should be used as a treatment procedure, over a period of several weeks or more, according to the healing. When the mouth tissues become normal, proper impressions may be taken and new dentures constructed.

Not all cases of denture mouth soreness respond to such treatment, and it may be necessary to remove flabby or damaged tissue by surgical means. And of course, the general bodily health of the patient and his nutrition must always be reviewed, and if necessary, built up.

Q. Recently our family dentist passed away and so we have begun to make use of the services of a recent graduate of our local dental school. I was amazed by his policy of replacing the lost teeth of our family and his refusal to pull those which I felt were no longer good. Is this procedure really proper, or is it merely a means of income for this chap?

A. The idea of pulling teeth which will definitely serve a needed purpose is something which has gone out with the horse and buggy. No longer is the only relief for a bad toothache the extraction of a tooth. In fact, it has been found in most cases this is usually a last resort. Each and every tooth in our mouth was designed for a specific purpose. Without a full set of teeth, our chewing and the eventual digestion of the food is greatly inhibited. This will, in a long run, have a definite influence on our general health.

The loss of a tooth may have many effects on those remaining. The force with which we bite will have a tendency to move the remaining teeth into the space. This, again, will influence our chewing ability to a great extent. Often, this is the reason for favoring one side of the mouth to the other when chewing our food. When this happens, the teeth and muscles become overworked. This is likely to be the cause of what people often refer to as a sore or tired jaw. In addition to this the teeth involved are weakened and worn in the process and early loss of teeth may occur.

The shape, size and position of the teeth have a definite purpose. All of these factors aid in keeping the teeth free from cavities. When a space remains after a tooth has been extracted, the space is an excellent place for the build up of food and bacteria. This is the ideal environment for cavities. In a short time a toothache will occur because of the extent of the developing cavity. If this is allowed to come about, eventual loss of additional teeth will result.

The loss of teeth will also often cause the "falling out" of others. This will result when a lower tooth is removed and its upper mate remains. Each time we bite, all of the teeth in the upper and lower jaw will meet, with the exception of the one opposite the space. This will result in this particular tooth working itself loose. Before too long, another space will result from the loss of this upper tooth.

Actually, there are only a few of the many reasons why we have found it is definitely necessary to fill those vacant spaces. The end result of this type of work, you will find, will be gratifying in the future. The prevention of further tooth loss, the efficiency of chewing and the enjoyment of a meal will all increase. In addition to this, the smile will be natural because there is no longer the need for hiding unsightly spaces.

Welch IS Birch Society

WASHINGTON (NEA) — asking our players please to keep their eyes on the ball.

Welch has said in interviews that at least a "couple of dozen times" Birch Society members have been expelled for behavior or comment not suited to his standards. A member of his top council, Wisconsin industrialist William Grede, says, too, that anyone who disagrees with Welch can leave the society.

Welch gives his followers plenty to chew on. As already well reported, his mid-1965 "scoreboard" map shows communism the main influence in 88 of 123 nations and territories outside the established Communist bloc. He says the United States is now 60 to 80 per cent under Red control.

If his earlier targets included Dwight Eisenhower, his brother Milton, John Foster Dulles and his brother Allen, today Welch is firing just as insistently at figures like Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, whom he says is "sabotaging our armed forces . . . and installing probable subversives among our officers."

He regards Secretary of State Dean Rusk as "one of the chief architects" of a U. S. foreign policy that allegedly handed China to the Reds.

Prominent as these targets are, they hardly suggest the force and sweep of Welch's latter-day attacks. These are leveled across the board at nearly the whole of government, the press and radio-television, the churches, the schools. He sees a tinge or a flood of Red nearly everywhere in America.

If there are qualitative differences between these themes and the wild notes Welch sounded against Eisenhower, they are not quickly discernible. And these are the only songs the rank-and-file Birchites can hear within the bosom of their society.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

A hundred twenty-five Delta county farmers will be hauling 100-pound bags of potatoes to the Exhibition building at the Escanaba State Fair grounds today in preparation for the first annual Delta County Potato Show to be staged there all day Thursday with the Escanaba Potato Association to furnish $510 in 40 prizes.

Miss Marian Pearson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pearson, 203 N. 15th St., reported about a dozen snowball flowers in bloom in her garden. The flowers usually bloom in the spring.

50 YEARS AGO

Thrown from a motor railway velocipede, near Chandler's Falls, E. F. Zuelke, superintendent for the Escanaba Traction Co., received injuries that will require his confinement to St. Francis hospital for some time. P. L. Utley, the general manager for the traction company and another passenger on the pede were thrown in opposite directions and escaped with minor bruises.

Record breaking crowds attended the bankrupt sale at the Bargain store, which is being conducted by the Fair Savings Bank management, purchaser of the stock.

The Doctor Says:

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt

A reader writes that her 15-month-old son has roundworms and wants to know how the pesky things are acquired. She adds that her doctor wants her to boil the bed sheets, diapers, towels and pajamas and disinfect the bathroom daily. These are worth-while measures but she wants to know if Lysol is a strong enough disinfectant to use. Also how long it will be necessary to take the medicine prescribed to kill the worms.

Roundworm eggs are found in soil where they can remain alive for years. They will not hatch until they are swallowed. These eggs are so small that they can be carried on dirty or sticky fingers without your knowing it. From the fingers they may be deposited in the mouth or on foods. Lysol is a concentrated solution and should be diluted before using in accordance with the instructions given, but in general roundworm eggs are very resistant to any chemical disinfectant.

The chief danger from roundworm infestation is that a large mass of worms will completely obstruct the bowel, necessitating an emergency operation. The most satisfactory treatment is a single dose of Piperazine. This is usually repeated after about seven days just to be on the safe side.

Q—My 2½-year-old grandson has what our doctor calls undescended testicles. He said this was common and would probably correct itself but, if it doesn't, the glands should be removed because they might become cancerous. What do you recommend?

A—In most boys with undescended testicles these glands come down into the scrotal sac spontaneously before puberty. When your grandson is 10, if they have not yet come down, a short course of male hormone may accomplish this. If this fails they should be brought down by a surgical operation without further delay. There is danger of cancer of the testicles only if they have been allowed to remain in the abdomen past puberty. Meanwhile, it is very important to prevent the child from feeling that the adults in the family are worried about this condition—a condition of which he will be unaware unless his attention is called to it.

Ann Landers

Oogie Ornerly After Haircut

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in behalf of my brother who is so mad he is actually cross-eyed. (One eye sort of goes over to the side when he gets excited and this morning he was madder than I have ever seen him.)

Oogie is 15 and has a mind of his own for which I admire him. He likes the Beatles and also the Rolling Stones. Oogie is no nut but he does happen to wear his hair longer than most kids. This has been talked about at the dinner table a lot lately because my folks hate it.

A few days ago my Dad ordered Oogie to get a haircut. Oogie said he'd think about a trim but not an actual cut.

Well, early this morning my Dad went into Oogie's bedroom with a pair of scissors and he whacked off big chunks of hair on the side and in the back. Oogie woke up a few minutes later and boy did he ever get mad. He screamed about liberty and human rights and the four freedoms. My dad said the freedom to let your hair grow like a sheep dog is not one of the four freedoms. Oogie said how a person wears his hair is his own personal business. My dad said as long as a kid lives in his parent's house, and eats and sleeps there, it is their business, too.

How do you feel about this?

CUT TO THE QUICK

Dear Cut: If there's anything I have no desire to get mixed up in it's a fight between a sheep dog and his parents.

If Oogie looked like some of the kids I've seen, I can understand why your Dad lost his temper.

I do feel, however, that your Dad should have laid down the law and ordered Oogie to get his hair trimmed instead of wielding the scissors himself.

Dear Ann Landers: My father was a successful but conservative businessman. He would never buy a used car because, in his words, "It's foolish to buy somebody else's trouble." When I told him I wanted to marry a divorced man, he used the same phrase.

Although I am only 24 and have been married less than a year people who meet me on the street ask me if I've been sick. My husband has made a nervous wreck out of me with his fault-finding. I can't do anything to suit him. He has a terrible temper and is tight with money.

So, Ann, when women write and ask if they should marry a divorced man, tell them what my Dad told me—advice I was too stupid to believe: "It's foolish to buy somebody else's trouble."—WOULDN'T LISTEN

Dear Wouldn't: Thank you for letting us know how it is with you, but the statistics tell another story. The chances for a lasting marriage are slightly better when one of the partners has had a previous marriage. Surprised? I was, too.

When you get to the two-time losers, however, the statistics take a sharp turn for the worse. And the more often a person marries after that the slimmer his chances for making a go of the next one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHOULD I OR SHOULD I NOT? You SHOULD'NT! The man you describe has all the qualities of a dog except loyalty. Tell him to get lost.

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

September Steel Production Drops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Steel production dropped sharply in September and caused a decline in U.S. industrial production for the first time in 11 months, the Federal Reserve Board reported Friday.

The board said industrial production fell one point during the month to 142.8 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

The board reported production of iron and steel declined 13 per cent in September and continued to fall in October. Steel users had heavy inventories because of the strike threat.

It was the first monthly decline since October, 1964, when the board's index of industrial production fell from 134 to 131.6 in the wake of automobile industry strikes.

Refugees Flood Flood Florida:

Castro Gives US Another Headache

By CHARLES E. TAYLOR

United Press International
MIAMI (UPI)—If Fidel Castro can't invade the United States he may have picked the next best way to give Uncle Sam another Latin headache by raising the "Sugar Cane Curtain" to let out a flood of refugees.

The noises already have begun in Congress and President Johnson's State Department is on the spot.

The concern is over the anticipated 5,000 refugees a month that will be taken into this country under Castro's Sept. 28 "open door" proclamation — provided the U.S. and Cuba reach agreement on getting the freedom shuttle cranked up.

Few Arrivals

So far there has only been a comparative trickle across the Florida straits by small boat. Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., Gov. Haydon Burns of Florida, Miami Democratic Congressman Dante Fascell,

FIDEL CASTRO

Tallahassee, and the department's ear is forever attuned to the voices of capitol hill. So far, no one has said what will be done.

The problems of the refugee influx most often mentioned are jobs, schools and housings.

Federal Aid

The federal government paid $4.8 million at the start of this year to Dade County to finance educating 11,600 Cuban refugee children absorbed into the Greater Miami public school system.

County School Supt. Joe Hall estimated it will cost $1,133-a-year more for each additional refugee student — the cost of critically needed extra classroom space and teachers.

The county doesn't have the money. Hall has ordered school principals not to accept any refugees from the "new wave" into their schools until the federal government provides the dollars.

But with the schools the hard figures end.

The cry heard in the fall of 1962, when 7,000 refugees a week were pouring into Miami just before the missile crisis shut off commercial air service, was that the refugees would make up a force of cheap labor to rob Miami's in the lower economic classes — particularly Negroes — of work.

No agency, however, has ever been able to provide statistics on how many Negroes or others actually did lose jobs to Cubans.

The question is, does Miami have room for more Cubans? If not, where else will the refugees build their "little Havanas." These are the questions Fidel Castro doesn't have to answer.

NATO Reported Planning Move Of Headquarters

LONDON (UPI)—Contingency planning is under way for a shift of NATO's political and military headquarters from Paris to alternative bases outside France, authoritative sources said Saturday.

Despite formal denials, the sources said such plans are under active study, with Britain, Belgium and Luxembourg as the most likely alternative sites for NATO's headquarters, if a move becomes inevitable.

Allied planners still hope that French President Charles de Gaulle will not make the shift necessary. But the possibility that NATO may have to leave Paris is now being seriously taken into account and preparations to meet such emergency.

Enquiries have been made in London, Brussels and Luxembourg and indications were that NATO headquarters may be split up, the political staff being located in Britain and the military, for tactical reasons on the continent, probably in Luxembourg or Belgium, the sources said.

De Gaulle's ultimate intentions regarding the NATO alliance so far remain obscure.

He served notice in his recent press conference that France would seek an end to the subordination "which is being described as integration and which places our destiny in the hands of foreigners." But he has not so far spelled out the implications of this formula.

Burns has demanded the federal government make it mandatory for new refugees to settle outside Florida. Smathers proposes federal detention centers to contain the refugees after their arrival until they can be relocated. Fascell calls for sharp limitation on the number of refugees this country will accept from Cuba.

White House Gets New Paint Job

WASHINGTON (UPI)—White House officials are taking advantage of President Johnson's hospitalization to give the executive mansion a new paint job on the ground floor and in the main entrance hallway.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss ... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss ... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair ... now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Ottawa Indians Pick President

PETOSKEY (UPI) — Frank Dominic of Petoskey has been named president of the 7,000-member Northern Michigan Ottawa Association for an 18th term.

Dominic, a mixer chemist for a cement concern at Petoskey was elected at an annual council weekend meeting of the association delegates. The parley was attended by about 400 Indians from various parts of Michigan.

Others elected for new terms at a meeting late Saturday include James Smith of Mount Pleasant, vice president; Mrs. Ann Smith, Bay Shore, treasurer and Dominic's wife, Wau-netta, secretary.

Consider $937,000

One of the big topics at the council meeting was the manner of disposition of a $937,000 judgment from the government to the Grand River band of Ottawas (Grand Rapids area). The judgment was based on an 1821 case under a treaty.

The Grand River band alone is involved in the $937,000 grant. Francis Wakefield of Grand Rapids, a member of the association's executive committee, said the U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs will determine the formula for distribution of the funds on a "blood-degree" basis and ancestral data.

The "blood-degree" formula is involved because of many intermarriages, particularly among the Pottawatomie and the Ottawa Indians in the Grand River band.

Suit Progresses

The Pottawatomie already have been granted a $2,438,869.90 judgment under the 1821 treaty which also is distributed under the "blood-degree" formula.

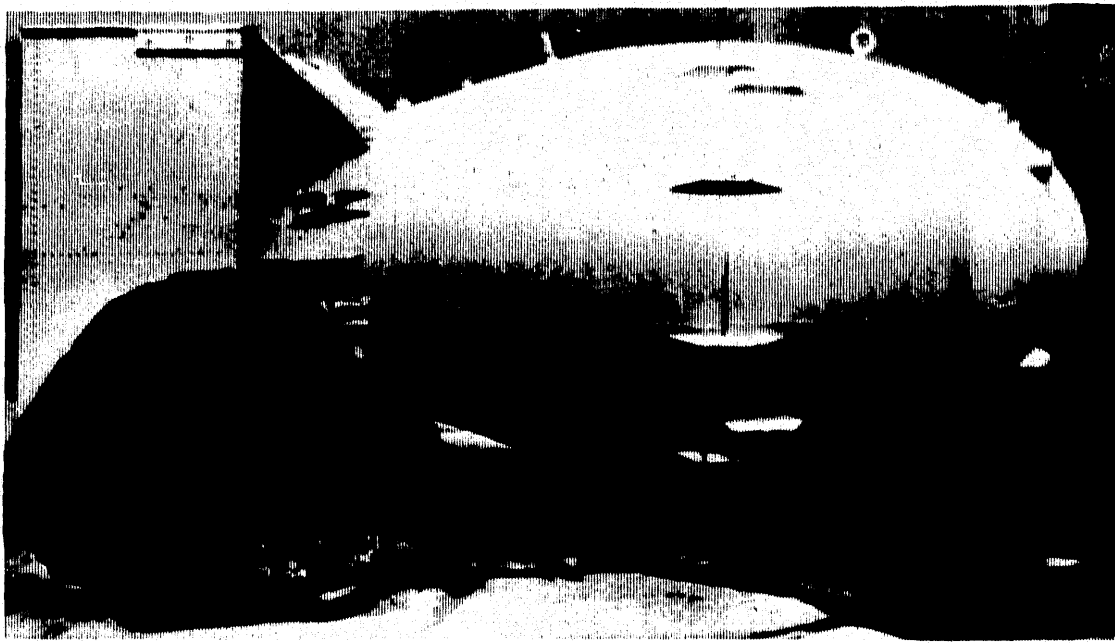

James Fitzharris, Escanaba attorney, who is representing the Northern Michigan Ottawa Association in a multi-million dollar suit against the government for Ottawa tribes only, says the suit is progressing well.

The Ottawa and Chippewa tribes also have a separate suit against the government.

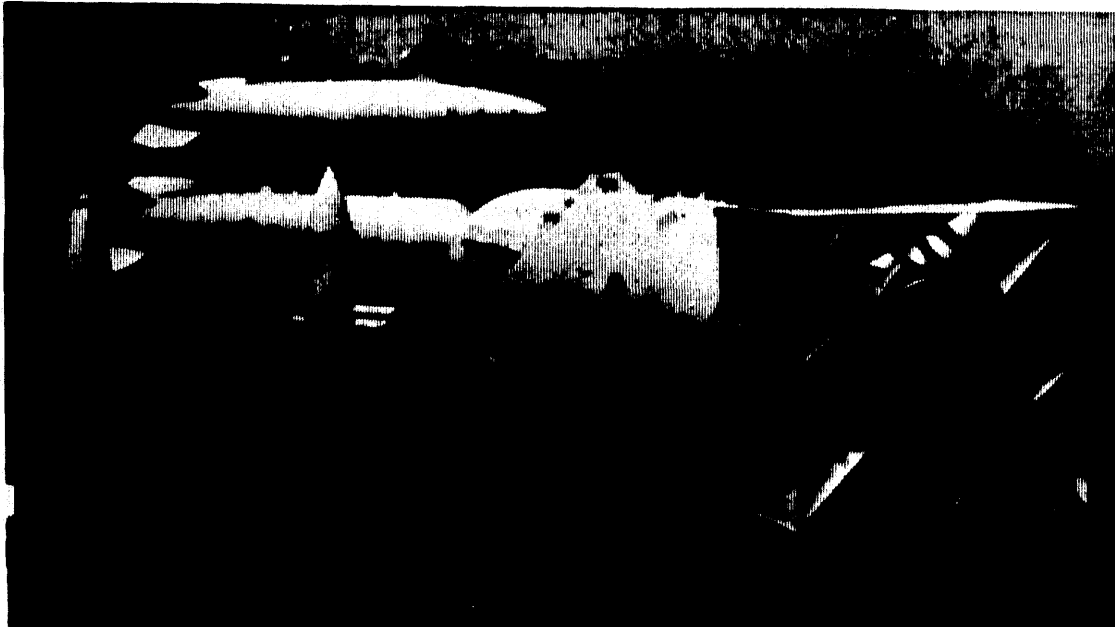

The association brought suit against the government for more than $14 million under the Indian Claims Law of 1946. The association has alleged "unconscionable consideration" paid by the U.S. under several treaties going back to the 1800s for purchase of Michigan land.

The Indians note, for example, a treaty was concluded for 13.7 million acres of land north of Grand River to Lake Superior for 16.8 cents per acre. The Indians say it was worth at the time at least $1.25 an acre.

Dr. Edgar Harden Senate Possibility

LANSING (UPI) — Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University, has been added to the list of possible Republican candidates for the 1966 U.S. Senate race.

Harden has reportedly been sounded out within the last week on a campaign for the Senate in which he presumably would oppose 70-year-old incumbent Democrat Sen. Patrick V. McNamara.

Harden, 58, who recently rejected an official request to run for Congress in the 11th District, was noncommittal about the Senate when reached Sunday night at his home in Marquette.

Just Came Up

"This has come up very fast in the last week, and I haven't given it enough thought," he said.

"If I decide the time is ripe and I'm the right person, I'll be perfectly willing to make a flat statement," he said.

Harden said there were at least three considerations which must be satisfied before he would consider entering the campaign. He listed them as "strong" support from Gov. George Romney, enough money in the bank to wage a powerful campaign, and assurances that his candidacy would not jeopardize the future of NMU.

Other frequently mentioned possibilities for the Senate race are U.S. Rep. Robert P. Griffin of Traverse City; former Detroit Councilman William T. Patrick Jr., and former GOP State Chairman John Feikens of Grosse Pointe Park, who is now co-chairman of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

Harden ventured into a political campaign once before, in 1957, and lost in the race for state superintendent of public instruction to Democrat Dr. Lynn Bartlett by 64,000 votes.

Shunned Congress Race

The prospect of hitting the campaign trail every two years caused Harden to turn down the request to run against Democrat U.S. Rep. Raymond F. Clevenger of Sault Ste. Marie. But as a senator he would only have to campaign once every six years.

The key consideration in the Senate race is the effect his leaving would have on NMU, Harden said.

"I'd want to visit with our own board and think about the future of the university first. We are just getting this university off the ground."

In the nine years he has been at NMU the school has grown from about 1,000 students to 5,465 this fall. Earlier he served as principal of Battle Creek High School and as dean of Michigan State University's Continuing Education Service.

With Harden out of the congressional race, Republicans now are reportedly considering Ogden E. Johnson of Ishpeming, a member of Northern's governing board, as a candidate.

Bearded Poet Happy In Jail

CHICAGO (UPI)—The bearded poet familiar around Chicago news offices for years was in jail today and he thanked the court that sent him there for "Fred" Stein, who insists his first name isn't "Fred" for years has submitted poetry to the city's news desks, often elaborately printed on stiff cardboard.

He claimed that the late President John Kennedy once used one of his poems in a speech on space. Stein's creations often extolled the city and that nation and sometimes berated figures currently in the news.

Money was a problem. He seldom had any. He lived in a decrepit building on Chicago's west side, a building so rundown the owner did not charge rent.

The founder of a group he called "Heritage: Uphold America" refused to move when the building was scheduled for demolition.

Building inspectors said they found him sick in bed when they called, his only companions two dogs. The building had no plumbing.

Finally Stein was brought to Housing Court Judge Richard A. Napolitano who ordered the bard sent to the county jail for an indefinite period.

"He has better living facilities in the jail," the judge said. "He was ready to accept the decision and he thanked the court for its consideration."

Women Make Bid For Prayers In Public Schools

HOLLAND (UPI)—Mrs. William J. Westrate, Jr., and Mrs. Howard Graves of Holland, leave today for Washington in their campaign to obtain new legislation which would permit Bible reading and prayers in public schools.

The two women are spearheading a petition drive which already has collected more than 22,000 signatures seeking a constitutional amendment to allow religious exercises in public schools. The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled out Bible reading and prayers during regular school hours.

The signatures so far are merely considered as "openers" in the campaign and thousands of others are expected from various parts of the state.

Mrs. Westrate and Mrs. Graves will meet with House Minority Leader Gerald Ford, R-Mich., and U.S. Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., Tuesday. The two Michigan congressmen will be asked to sponsor the amendment.

Kentucky Holds Alleged Slayer

BENTON HARBOR (UPI)—Extradition proceedings were to start today to return William Schubert, 49, De Kalb, Ill., ex-convict from Kentucky to face murder charges here, according to Andrew Novikoff, special assistant Berrien County prosecutor.

Schubert was picked up while hitchhiking near Whitley City, Ky., late Saturday, where he allegedly had gone to kill two women after slaying Charles Bojack, 33, Benton Harbor, here last Wednesday.

Novikoff said Schubert also was wanted as a parole violator at Columbus, Ohio, where he was released Sept. 23 on a conditional parole.

According to McCreary County, Ky., authorities, Schubert said he would fight extradition to Michigan to face the Berrien County murder warrant, but said he would waive extradition to Ohio where he also is wanted for violating parole.

Sheriff Andy Cox of McCreary County, said Schubert readily admitted the Benton Harbor slaying of Bojack and said Schubert told him he went to Kentucky to kill his first wife, Irene Sears, of Whitley City, and his stepdaughter, Miss Wilma Richardson, 21, who is visiting her grandparents at Liberty, Ky.

The sheriff and State Trooper Floyd Frasurer captured Schubert, who was unarmed, about a block from the home of Mrs. Sears.

'66 Steel Output Will Match '65

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Steel production in 1966 will be as great as this year's, Steel Magazine said Sunday.

Records may be set next year, the weekly said, in passenger car output, gross national product and plant and equipment expenditures.

Early in the year, the magazine predicted, steel buying will have to be stepped up to match high consumption, and inventories laid in as a hedge against a steelworkers strike will be used up.

The magazine said its prediction is higher than early forecasts of 1966 production by steelmakers, who are talking in terms of 120 million tons. Forecasts by steel makers in recent years have been on the conservative side.

Production Rises

Last week, steel melting was quoted at 2.2 million net tons, equivalent to an annual rate of 112 million tons.

Through the first nine months of 1965, Steel said, output totaled 103.4 million tons vs. 92.6 million in the comparable period of 1964.

The steel industry is turning its attention to the converting of salt water as a result of an ever growing demand for water, Steel said.

Today, 24 major producers of desalination systems and equipment are competing in the market in a field which only three years ago was a highly speculative industry.

According to Steel, as U. S. water consumption increases beyond its present rate of about 359 billion gallons of fresh water per day, the need for the desalting systems will continue to grow.

Water Use Grows

By 1975, the water consumption rate is expected to swell to 453 billion gallons daily. Industry consumes half of our water now and by 1980, the figure will be up to 70 per cent, Steel said.

Already in operation are five plants with a daily capacity totaling 3.5 million gallons. A year from now, the magazine said, a 2.6-million gallon daily facility will start to service consumers in the Florida Keys. It will be the largest desalination plant in the United States.

High cost is the principal factor in limiting the number of installations, Steel said. Costs now range from 25 to 90 cents per 1,000 gallons. Federal officials now are talking about capability to make desalting units for small communities at a cost of 50 cents per gallon in the 1968-72 period.

To make the plants more economical, secondary functions are being proposed, such as linking them with nuclear energy plants to make electricity or with refuse disposal units.

A modern electric treecrusher, weighing 140 tons, can clear an acre of land every 15 minutes.

Moon's Shine May Be Diamond Glow

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The first man to land on the moon may find himself walking on diamonds.

Huge quantities of these gems possibly lie scattered about the surface of the moon, says British physicist, Prof. S. Tolansky.

He believes the tremendous shock waves released when meteorites crash into the moon are sufficient to create diamonds.

Tolansky says laboratory experiments have proved the shock wave which follows an explosion can turn carbon into artificial diamonds. This is achieved through the simultaneous combination of high pressure and temperature, he says.

(A method involving controlled pressure and temperature is currently used in the commercial manufacture of artificial diamonds.)

To support his theory, the British scientist points out that the rim of the Canon Diablo, a large meteorite crater in Arizona, contains small micro diamonds. These were created by the tremendous heat and pressure generated by the shock wave of the meteorite as it ploughed into the earth's surface, he claims.

Prince To Attend Australian School

LONDON (UPI) — Buckingham Palace announced today that Prince Charles will attend school in Australia next year.

The heir to the British throne is 16. The palace announcement said Charles will enroll at a Church of England school 100 miles from Melbourne for the 3½ month term beginning in February. The school is the "Timbertop" branch of the Geelong Grammar School.

At the completion of the term, the prince will return to his present school, Gordonstoun in the Scottish highlands.

Plan Menus When You Make Out Grocery List

A grocery list is a kind of meal plan. But is it enough?

"Why not take that list a step further and break it into blocks of menus?" asks Mrs. Anita Dean, Michigan State University foods and nutrition specialist. "You may not want to plan ahead for an entire week, but you can plan three or four days at a time."

She says some homemakers feel it's easier to arrange menus on a day-to-day or meal-to-meal basis, but they are missing the opportunity to make better use of leftovers.

"If you plan ahead, you can often save time by cooking large amounts of some foods and freezing what's left. This is particularly useful for women who work," Mrs. Dean comments.

And planning can help make meals more attractive. Garnishes, for example, are more effective if you plan them, rather than using whatever happens to be in the refrigerator.

In planning, Mrs. Dean suggests that you decide first what your main dish will be. This might be the meat you serve or a main dish casserole. Whatever it is, it provides the focal point for the meal.

"Plan the rest of the menu around this main dish," she stresses. "Other dishes should complement it."

To avoid repeating flavors and textures, plan appetizers, salads, and desserts simultaneously. You wouldn't want to serve an orange gelatin salad and an orange chiffon pie at the same meal.

Mrs. Dean reminds that the meal is more pleasant if you choose a dessert in relation to the main course. In other words, serve a light dessert with a rich, filling main course and vice versa.

For example, a rich Michigan blueberry pie is more pleasing after a chef salad luncheon. But an easy-to-prepare platter of fresh fruit is better than cake or pastry for complementing a steak and french fries meal, comments Mrs. Dean.

Newspaper want ads are a big sell! Eight hundred million was spent on classified ads last year . . . more than for all television spot announcements or radio advertising.

ATLANTIC NEWCOMER—A fireboat welcomes the new Norwegian luxury liner "Sagafjord" to Oslo harbor. The 24,000-ton ship, built in France, goes into service on the North Atlantic run between New York and Scandinavian ports.

New Textile Finishes Will Outdate Ironing

EAST LANSING — Would you like to pack away your iron and ironing board? New textiles with durable or permanent finishes are another step toward little or "no iron" garments.

Durable shape-set garments are flooding the market. Men's and women's slacks and shirts and children's wear are all being made from fabrics with the new durable press finish, says Bernetta Kahabka, specialist in textiles for Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

The aim of durable press is a completely "no iron" textile product. Manufacturers say it is an improvement over the familiar wash and wear fabrics.

Although durable press fabrics are constantly being improved, there are still a few problems for which the consumer should be aware.

Discoloration can sometimes be noted after repeated washings. Some white fabrics tend to yellow and in some garments the creases along the pleats and edges may lighten.

New resins are being developed to prevent white fabrics from turning yellow. This will open up a vast market in men's dress shirts the specialist reports.

Creases in durable press garments are placed for the life of the garment and there is no known way of removing them. This complicates alterations, especially in children's clothes where the hemline may be changed several times during the wearing life. Alterations in men's and boys' slacks are also difficult.

Durable press clothes look best when tumble dried rather than drip dried. The specialist cautions that such clothes should not be put through the wringer.

Touch up pressing is still a possibility. Miss Kahabka says, "Never needs ironing are strong words and potent promises."

Blends of polyester and cotton are the most popular permanent press fabrics. These blends improve the wearing quality and make possible lighter weight fabrics. Also worth watching are the 100 per cent, man-made fibers.

The specialist forecasts that improvements within the industry will expand the durable press market to include sheets, draperies, slipcovers and tablecloths.

Escanaba Acclaims Herschele Garber

A large and very appreciative audience filled the William Oliver Auditorium Saturday night when the Community Concert Assn. presented its first concert of the 1965-66 season.

Opening the season was the great American tenor, Herschele Garber, with Richard Otto at the piano.

Mr. Garber began the program with the stirring and somber strains of Ombra mai fu from "Xeres" by Frederick Handel. He continued with several selections by Franz Schubert which depicted the great versatility of this gifted composer, from the lilting Fruchlingsglaube to the fiery and somber Der Erlkonig.

Following a short intermission, Mr. Garber returned to the stage with the lovely "Morgen" by Richard Strauss, a song of life's trails and tribulation and love eternal. In marked contrast to the lightness of this and the several which followed, he offered Two Hebrew melodies by the great French composer Maurice Ravel.

The audience was especially taken by the neapolitan love song "Silenzio Canatore." Mr. Garber remained on stage for numerous encores including a beautiful rendition of "Exodus" and the moving neapolitan song "Come Back To Sorrento."

Herschele Garber, a most talented and gifted artist, combined the familiar with the unfamiliar which resulted in a most enjoyable and memorable performance.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks:

Once in a while, we must all be reminded that accidents are CAUSED by carelessness (which many of us are guilty of).

Here's a little BIG hint I would like to pass along:

NEVER throw away medicine or pill bottles unless you first empty the contents down the toilet! Then flush it immediately!

NEVER put half-full bottles of anything in your garbage either. Lots of people do this, especially when they move, and clean out their medicine cabinets.

Little children just love to go through neighbors' trash cans and play with the bottles. Some children died from this very thing last year. Pets often get into garbage cans, too. Neither knows any better.

So, take the time to empty all bottles and boxes, because you just might save a life.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's a real good hint for avid readers:

Cut a book mark from the corner of an envelope, and slip it over the corner of a page to keep your place.

Why not mark favorite recipe pages in a cook book the same way? One can utilize old envelopes this way.

It works, and is so quick and handy.

Letter Of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

The first thing I read when I pick up the paper is the "obits." Next comes you.

Olga S.

Dear Heloise:

I have found a great way to de-fuzz a garment.

Dear Heloise:

I use a dry sponge (completely dry), or a piece of dry foam rubber.

My husband washed some black trousers with a white throw rug. Boy, I thought they were ruined. Then I discovered, by experiment, that the regular, clean, dry sponge would remove the specks of fuzz which were all over the garment.

Foam rubber does a good job, but a sponge is easier to brush the clothes with.

Sue Jean Wray

And, honey, we tried it, and it works. Tell your husband I said for him to give you a kiss.

New Act Puts Uninsured Driver On Spot

Secretary of State James Hare is starting a great experiment in automobile accident control for the State of Michigan on Nov. 1. It is expected to have a strong effect on auto driving in Michigan.

Hare explained the new Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act to insurance men and the press of the mid-Upper Peninsula at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce Building late Saturday.

Starting Nov. 1 all persons buying auto license plates in Michigan must pay $1 into the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund if their car is insured against claims for personal or property damage. If their car is not insured they must pay $35 yearly.

The $1 and $35 payments will be used by the state to pay claims by persons who have suffered personal injury or property damage in accidents involving uninsured cars.

Not Insurance
The Legislature enacted the fund to protect innocent accident victims unable to get any compensation although they had been badly hurt or suffered heavy property damage, said Hare.

The intent of the legislation, he said, is not to create a substitute for auto liability insurance. When the uninsured auto driver pays his $35 fee each year into the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund he is not buying any insurance. If he is in an accident and he must pay a claim because of it he fund pays the fund in full for the claim. He still is subject to the financial responsibility laws of Michigan and he can lose his auto license and driver license if he does not obey the new law.

The auto insurance industry isn't very happy with the legislation, said Hare, but he thinks its fear that is a state move into the insurance business is unfounded and that the act will create a better situation all around.

To Force Insurance
His intent, he said, is to encourage people to buy insurance. His department estimates that 550,000 of Michigan's 3.6 million drivers are uninsured. "We got into this," he said

"because many have had their family structure destroyed by automobile accidents. Some have been unable to pay their hospital bills. Some have gone on relief. There is a new social concept that anyone who drives must take care of the victims of his driving and not force them on the government for care."

"Every act must be paid for by someone. Either the driver must assume the loss, a charity hospital must care for the victims, or the welfare department must care for the family. The people do not recognize the enormity of the automobile accident toll in Michigan. The death toll of the war in Viet Nam is small change compared with the killing by automobiles. We will have 500 or more dead this year in Michigan, 7,500 permanently disabled and 125,000 hospitalized. We have 800 accidents a day and they cost $400 million a year."

Cut Insurance Rates
"If we can cut the automobile accident rate down to what it is in Rhode Island or Connecticut our insurance rates are going to pull down with it. We would never have gone into this fund without this terrible accident rate and the social injustice to the victims of the uninsured drivers."

In three years the Province of Ontario, with a similar fund the pay claims against uninsured drivers, was able to boost its insured automobiles from 82 per cent to 97 per cent. Ontario charges uninsured drivers $20, instead of the $35 charged by Michigan, but Michigan has 2.5 to 3.5 times more motor accidents than Ontario.

The Legislature this week revised the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act to raise the fee on the uninsured from $25 to $35 and to raise the deductible amount on each claim from $50 to $200.

The Legislature appropriated $7.5 million to get the plan started, but fees will be paid only from claim money. Based on Ontario experience, Hare expects Michigan to have 1,000 claims against uninsured motorists a month in the first year of the plan, which becomes operative Jan. 1, 1968.

Maximum Claims
He expects administrative expenses to be $1 million a year and expects payment of $5 million in claims in the first 6 months of fund operation. Common auto liability insurance coverage in Michigan is "10-20-5" and the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund will make maximum payments on this same schedule of $10,000 personal injury for each person, $20,000 total for an accident in personal injuries and $5,000 in property damages per accident.

Hare said that auto insurance rates are going up and that underwriters are cancelling bad risks at a rate which he said appeared to him to be about 1,000 a day.

He said that he expected the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund and a motor vehicle inspection law which he predicts the Michigan Legislature will enact next year would put the state's teen age drivers out of the jalopy business unless they get insurance which would cost more than some of their cars do.

Check Insurance
Hare urged Michigan's motorists to check immediately on their auto insurance policies. Unless they have liability coverage — public liability and property damage — they "may have to pay the long shot of $35 when they buy license plates," Hare said.

"And unless they extend their coverage, they will have to be considered uninsured so far as the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund goes."

Protection Method
Most companies will be furnishing their liability policy holder with a certificate of insurance, which serves as proof that he does have liability insurance coverage, before Nov. 1 and the opening of the license plate sales.

False claims of insurance are a misdemeanor and subject the individual to fine and possible prison sentence.

Hare cautioned against dropping the private uninsured protection rider, however. "The fund and the rider offered by private insurance companies complement one another," Hare said. "One covers contingencies in Michigan, while the rider offers protection outside the state — protection which the fund does not provide."

Meanest Thief Hits Stadium

DETROIT (UPI)—The meanest thief in the world worked Tiger Stadium Sunday.

He stole a portable wheelchair belonging to a man paralyzed since birth.

Loss of the wheelchair culminated a miserable day for the victim, Richard W. French, 44, Detroit. French, the candy concessionaire at Receiving Hospital since 1947, was dispirited when his beloved Lions dropped a 31-21 decision to the Green Bay Packers.

As French, three friends and French's 10-year-old son, Clark, got ready to leave the game, they discovered the wheelchair had been stolen.

French has been going to games for six years. As is his custom, he folds the wheelchair and tucks it behind a little opening in the runway ramp near his seat. This time, it was stolen while French and his companions became involved in the game action.

The chair was a gift 10 years ago from a Lions Club. French doesn't need the chair to get to work because he can walk with the aid of a crutch. But he needs it for longer walks.

Lions' officials said they would conduct a search of the stadium today to determine if the thief had abandoned the chair after taking it from its hiding place.

LBJ Hopes To Leave Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson, on the mend from his gall bladder operation, today looked forward to leaving Bethesda Naval Hospital in a day or two.

Texas appeared to loom large in Johnson's convalescence plans. With Congress on the verge of adjournment, the Chief Executive was expected to close up shop in Washington and head for the LBJ Ranch next weekend, there to put his Texas White House in operation.

The President and his aides were close-mouthed about his plans as always, but it was expected that he would be away for an extended stay, perhaps through the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Today, Johnson's 11th day at Bethesda, was expected to be quiet with only a brief session with the hospital dentist scheduled. The President had his teeth cleaned and a filling replaced on Saturday.

Johnson also had the stitches removed from the long surgical cut in his abdomen on Saturday. He was still not feeling quite up to snuff, but there were signs the restless Chief Executive was anxious to wind up his hospital stay.

Don Sobata Dies

Don Sobata of 3635 N. Neva, Escanaba, husband of a former Escanaba resident, died Saturday night in a Chicago hospital. His wife is the former Joy Mylander of Escanaba. The funeral services will be held in Chicago Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Kenneally Dies Saturday

Mrs. Gerald (Mildred) Kenneally, 69, of 196 N. 19th St., died at 7:10 p.m. Saturday in her home.

She was born July 5, 1896 in Poyne City, Mich., and was married to Gerald Kenneally Dec. 26, 1912 in Trout Lake. He died in 1949.

She is survived by two daughters and one son, Mrs. Charles (Geraldine) Gorenchian, Mrs. Arnold (Patricia) Berg and Robert Kenneally, all of Escanaba; three grandchildren and three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Olevie Hoover, Gladstone; the Misses Winifred and Gertrude Brown of Newberry and Clarence Brown of Engadine.

Friends may call at the Boyce Funeral Home from 3:30 to 9:30 today. Complete funeral services will be held in the Boyce chapel at 1:30 Tuesday with Father Allen Mayette of St. Anne's officiating. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Science Books Now Displayed At High School

In the first exhibit of its kind, 467 outstanding new science books for readers and pupils of all ages, K-12 and including many important new adult titles, are now on display at the library in the Escanaba Area High School. The exhibit is open until 5 o'clock daily.

For those unable to visit in the day-time hours, the library will be open between 7 and 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 19. The exhibit will last through Oct. 22, said Mrs. A. M. Gilbert, librarian.

"These books represent the best new titles in the field from 62 leading publishers. Teachers, librarians, and interested parents will find a complete representation of the new science learning and teaching books that merit their attention," she said. Those attending will receive catalogues which list, describe and index every book in the collection, and which may be retained as a permanent reference. This plan is a great service to those interested in buying books, since it gives them a chance to examine the best in the field before purchasing.

The exhibit is supplied by Books on Exhibit, a firm which provides its services to school systems and libraries throughout the country. They do not take orders, but the names and addresses of the 62 participating publishers are provided in the catalogues.

Michigan's population now stands at 8,218,000 persons, a recent estimate by the Bureau of the Census shows. It estimated Michigan population on July 1, 1964 to be 8,153,000 persons, a gain since the 1960 census of 7,823,000, 395,000 or 5.1 per cent.

Benefit Sales Gross $3,000

Three auctions for the benefit of a dental fund for underprivileged children of Delta County have grossed more than $3,000, it was reported today by the Escanaba Exchange Club, sponsor of the event.

The proceeds reported are gross and there are certain costs which the Exchange Club must meet in connection with the sale, so that the net has yet to be determined. The proceeds that will go to the dental fund will be announced soon.

The last of the three auctions was held at the U. P. State Fairgrounds on Sunday and was the busiest of all, with gross sales running to more than $2,000.

Robert Abb and Bill Daniels, Exchange Club co-chairman of the benefit, expressed appreciation to everyone who helped make the auction a success.

"It appears that we will be able to finance a fulltime dentist for the Dental Clinic again next summer," said Abb. "The people of Delta County and the area have been most generous."

Pope To Decree New Document

VATICAN, Italy, (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will promulgate the Ecumenical Council's historic document on Jews and other non-Christian religions in a public session in St. Peter's Oct. 28, it was announced today.

Council officials informed the 2,500 bishops the Pope had decided to add the declaration on non-Christians to four other decrees already scheduled for promulgation on the day. The promulgation will be preceded by public votes of the bishops on the five documents—a simple formality since all have already been passed by the council.

The other four documents scheduled for promulgation are a tract on the role of bishops, which makes them more independent of the Roman curia, and documents on the renovation of religious orders, seminaries and Christian education.

When council Secretary General Archbishop Pericle Felici

first announced plans for the public session three days ago, he listed only those four documents as scheduled for promulgation. The tract on non-Christians, which deplores anti-Semitism and clears the Jews of collective responsibility for the crucifixion of Christ, won final approval a few hours after that announcement.

Today's communiqué said that since that document was now also ready for promulgation, the Pope had decided to add it to the list.

Death Comes To Rev. Evans

CHICAGO — Services for the Rev. John C. Evans, 75, religion and education editor of the Tribune from 1929 to 1956, were held today in St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, 1424 N. Dearborn St.

Dr. Evans died Thursday night in his home, 31 E. Division St., while preparing to attend a conference of the Chicago Press Editors' association. He was to have been honored by the organization along with seven other retired newsmen.

Dr. Evans is survived by his wife, Betsy; two daughters, Mrs. Jane Hoffman and Mrs. Irma Evans; and a sister, Mrs. Irma Evans of Oakland, Cal.

He began his newspaper career as a reporter in Des Moines, Ia., and Spokane, Wash., before World War I. In 1924 he was ordained a priest in the Episcopal church.

From then until he joined The Tribune staff he served churches in Havre, Mont., and Escanaba, Mich., leaving there in 1928.

Dr. Evans covered the first assembly of the World Council of churches in 1948 in Amsterdam, the founding meeting of the National Council of churches in 1950 in Cleveland, and the Lambeth conference of bishops of the Anglican communion in 1948 in London.

Sammy Davis Jr. Fails To Appear, Patronsirate

DETROIT (UPI)—Sammy Davis Jr., didn't turn up at Detroit's Cobo Hall Sunday night and as a result there was near bedlam.

Some 11,000 persons went to the hall to see the one-eyed performer but when it was announced that Davis wouldn't appear, less than 1,000 remained. The rest surged out to the box office for refunds.

A window in the ticket office was smashed and cash ran out. Thousands were asked to mail in their tickets for refunds. Davis was hospitalized in New York as a result of being socked by a replacement actor during the fight scene in "Golden Boy," the musical in which Davis has the starring role.

Felix Gerstman, producer of the one-act show in Detroit, estimated his loss at $20,000. Other performers, who were to have assisted Davis, made it on schedule including Count Basie and his band.

World's Fair Closes Broke

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 1964-1965 New York World's Fair closed early today with an attendance explosion, a wave of vandalism and an admission of financial failure.

Formal closing ceremonies for the billion dollar extravaganza were minimal — flag lowerings at sunset, a fireworks display and the booming of an old Swedish cannon.

Fair president Robert Moses announced that the fair had only $20 million instead of the $30 million originally promised to devote to demolition and creation of a permanent park. The fair wound up with a two-year total attendance of 51,607,037, more than 10 million above the 1958 Brussels fair. Moses had counted on 70 million.

South America Needs Machines

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It takes four minutes of labor to produce a bushel of corn in the United States, and 21 man hours to produce one bushel in Ecuador, a Michigan State University agricultural engineer told an agricultural meeting here today.

Dr. Carl W. Hall told the Agricultural Research Institute of the National Academy of Sciences that South American countries urgently need increased farm mechanization and more intensive use of fertilizers to boost their crops.

But he warned that would be useless unless there were also a program for development of industry, education and transportation there.

"Before mechanization can be brought to these countries," said Dr. Hall, "the U.S. must overcome such deterrents as unfavorable economic policies in Latin America and a 30 to 40 per cent illiteracy situation."

Thirty years ago, the agricultural expert said, Latin American countries out-produced North American on a per acre basis and were underselling us on the world market. Now, he said, North America produces twice as much per acre as the Latin American countries.

Mechanization and fertilization he said, were the answers. He said American farmers apply nearly three times as much chemical fertilizers per acre as their Latin American neighbors.

But he emphasized that one of the most limiting factors in the development of Latin American agriculture is the quality of its labor. "The labor is often not trained or educated to work in an advanced technology," said Dr. Hall.

"Undoubtedly mechanization could help these countries," he said. "But before we start moving machines into Latin America, we need some long range programs to emphasize education, primarily in the rural areas, devoted to agricultural development and research to answer their problems."

"American industry can work more closely with these countries to spur international trade so that in 10 to 25 years we can trade with them as we now trade with Europe, Japan and other parts of the world."

Apaches Donate Christmas Tree

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White Mountain Apaches from the Ft. Apache Reservation near White River, Ariz., will donate a huge blue spruce for use as the national Christmas tree this year.

The tree will be set up on the Ellipse, a park just south of the White House, to be decorated by National Park Service workers with thousands of colored bulbs and ornaments.

KKK Termed Communist Ally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After six months of top secret work, House investigators are confident they have the facts to expose the Ku Klux Klan as "possibly the greatest ally of communism in the United States."

The House Committee on Un-American Activities is scheduled to begin public hearings on the so-called "invisible empire" Tuesday. It has held closed hearings since late July. Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, a Conservative Republican on the committee, said the hearings would show that Klan violence followed a definite pattern and was not the result of isolated instances. "It would take a pretty warped mind to admire the Klan after the record has been made public," he said.

Ashbrook attended many of the committee's secret hearings. He said he found the Klan "possibly the greatest ally of communism in the United States. . . . That is because the Klan spreads hatred, suspicion, lies and racism — all of which make up the soil on which communism thrives."

He denied the Klan was the patriotic society it claims to be. "Its so-called 'attacks' on communism are nothing more than a smoke screen for demagogues, and so tend to discredit those who are truly anti-Communist," he said. It was expected that it would

Police Track Knife Slayer

DETROIT (UPI) — Police worked with meager clues today in an effort to track down the knife slayer of Mrs. Ethel Van Wicklin, 80, in her Farmington Township home.

Mrs. Wicklin had been stabbed at least 10 times in the chest, face and neck, and her body hidden under a blanket and two pillows on her living room couch. A knife believed to have been used in the attack was found.

Mrs. Van Wicklin's son, Dexter, 45, found the body Saturday after a neighbor notified him that his mother's mail and other deliveries were accumulating outside the house.

Van Wicklin's wife told police she talked to her mother-in-law late Friday.

Police were unable to establish a motive. They said the house did not appear to have been ransacked. The back door was open.

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — David J. Olson, 23, son of Ann Arbor Police Capt. Harold Olson, died at University Hospital Saturday of injuries suffered in the crash of his small plane.

Olson was injured when his Piper Cub plane crashed on takeoff at the Saline airport. He died six hours later.

Panthers Nail Broncos, 45-14 In Grid Clash

BARK RIVER — The Pembine Panthers ripped the Bark River-Harris Broncos 45-14 in Wolverine Conference action Saturday.

Leading 19-7 at halftime, Pembine exploded for three touchdowns in the third quarter to clinch the triumph.

Clay Jenkins registered Pembine's first two touchdowns on a 16 yard pass from Al Dunlap and a nine yard run. Gus Schlae hauled in a 16 yard TD yard toss from Kerry Wentela and Bark River's Pat Sagittaw hit paydirt and added the extra point to complete the first half scoring.

Schlae allied two of Pembine's third quarter TDs and Wentela checked for the third as the Panthers pulled out of reach.

Substitute signal caller Deryle Lamonica hit Charley Furgeson for six points to make the score 10-7. Midway through the period George Salms scooped up a Pete Beathard fumble and raced 18 yards to push the count to 17-7.

The Broncos electrified the home fans in the first half when John McCormick and Bob Scappitto combined on a 90-yard scoring play for Denver's first points. Fullback Cookie Gierist scored the other Bronco touchdown.

Jack Spikes and Bob Jackson each tallied for the Oilers on short runs and Blanda added the remaining points with a 36-yard field goal.

Buffalo erupted for 20 points in the last period by taking advantage of Kansas City errors.

The victory left the Bills with commanding 5-1 record over second place Houston, 2-3.

Stew Barber recovered a fumble on the KC 30 early in the fourth quarter and on the next play the Bills went ahead to stay.

Michigan Tech Wins

Crippled Wildcats Upset St. Norbert

By United Press International
Northern Michigan, a small college giant which only last week was toppled from ranks of the Top 10, came back to life Saturday and knocked off highly ranked St. Norbert's College (Wis.), 13-6.

Playing without its top offensive punch of quarterback Clair Lambert and end Bernie Schmitt who were disabled in last week's loss to lowly Central Michigan, Northern was able to hand St. Norbert's its first loss in six games.

In other action, Michigan Tech remained unbeaten by whipping Mankato State (Minn.) 21-12, and Kalamazoo won its fourth without a loss by topping Adrian, 18-8.

Wayne State lost a scoring battle to Wisconsin (Milwaukee Branch), 41-34. Western Michigan tied, 10-10, with Kent State. Eastern Michigan beat Allegheny, 23-8, and Hillsdale shut out Central Michigan, 13-0.

Ferris State was swamped 57-0 by Indiana (Pa.). Olivet set Alma back, 20-14. Northwood ran over Eastern Illinois, 42-7, and Albion toppled Hope, 28-12.

Blocked Punt Starts It
Northern Michigan blocked a St. Norbert punt and took over just four yards from the goal line in the first quarter. John Spuhler carried it over for a touchdown. Northern tallied again in the final period on a 45 yard march to beat the fifth ranked NAIA team.

Michigan Tech held onto first place in the Northern Intercollegiate Conference by winning its fifth straight this season in a come-from-behind win over Mankato. Mankato led 12-0 early in the game until Tech began to move with one TD in the second period and two more in the third.

Kalamazoo won its fourth of the year and third in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association without a setback. Kalamazoo had piled up an 18-0 lead in the third quarter before Adrian could break into the scoring column.

Wayne lost a hectic battle when the Wisconsin team recovered a fumble in Wayne's end zone after the Tartars had intercepted a pass on the same play.

Kent State had to score a touchdown in the fourth quarter to tie Western Michigan, 10-10, in a Mid-American Conference battle.

Good Kicking
Gino Cappelletti, the league scoring champ, booted second half three-pointers from the 21 and 22 yard lines to earn the Pats a 13-13 standoff with the Western Division leaders.

Elsewhere in the AFL Buffalo crushed Kansas City 23-7 and Denver upended Houston 28-17. Saturday night, New York and Oakland played to a 24-24 tie.

The tie was San Diego's second of the year, having earlier played to a draw with Kansas City. It left the Chargers with 4-2 mark and comfortable advantage over Oakland and KC, tied for second place in the West with identical 3-2-1 records.

San Diego built a 13-7 lead on two field goals by Herb Travener and an 84-yard pass play from John Hadl to Lance Alworth before Cappelletti's toe evened the count.

The statistical side gave San Diego a huge edge. The Chargers out first-downed the Pats 15-7 and outgained them on the ground 161 yards to 37.

Costly Fumble
The visitors had a last chance to win in the final two minutes. Travener lined up for a 41-yard field goal attempt, but the snap from center was fumble and the Chargers never got the ball again.

Defensive back John Griffin scored a pair of second half touchdowns to lead Denver past the Oilers. The 25-year-old, third-year pro went 10 yards with a blocked punt to give the Broncos the lead and then iced the game in the last minute when he picked off a George Blanda pass and returned it 44 yards to the end zone.

The Broncos electrified the home fans in the first half when John McCormick and Bob Scappitto combined on a 90-yard scoring play for Denver's first points. Fullback Cookie Gierist scored the other Bronco touchdown.

Jack Spikes and Bob Jackson each tallied for the Oilers on short runs and Blanda added the remaining points with a 36-yard field goal.

The win evened Eastern's President Athletic Conference record at 1-1.

Central Michigan, the team which upset Northern last weekend, lost again Saturday as Hillsdale's Bill Wicht scored on a run of nine yards and later on a 60-yard pass play.

Ferris State was no match for Indiana State and lost its homecoming contest. Indiana scored at least twice in every period against the much smaller Ferris team.

Arkansas Rally Catches Texas In Grid Classic

By United Press International
The Arkansas Razorbacks, who defeated Texas 27-24 last weekend, can afford the luxury of a grim smile knowing that the worst is probably over, but most of the nation's other top teams can only shudder at what awaits them this Saturday.

Third-ranked Arkansas jumped off to a 20-0 lead in the second quarter, but then had to come from behind late in the fourth period after Texas went ahead 24-20.

As gloom was settling over the 42,000 partisan fans at Fayetteville, Ark., quarterback Jon Brittenum came into direct the Razorbacks on an 80-yard scoring drive, with only 92 seconds left. Brittenum plunged one yard to give Arkansas the longest unbeaten streak in the country, 17 consecutive victories.

Number One
Jubilant Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles announced with his accustomed calmness, "I think the team has qualified to be rated No. 1."

However, Nebraska made a strong bid to keep the top spot for at least another week by mauling Kansas State 41-0, and Michigan State put on a performance that might earn a promotion from the No. 4 ranking by crushing Ohio State 32-7.

In other games, Georgia (5) lost to Florida State 10-3; Purdue, tied for sixth with Southern California, edged Michigan 17-15; Memphis State routed heavily favored and ninth-ranked Mississippi State 33-13 and Florida, ranked 10th beat North Carolina State 28-6.

The Trojans from Southern California, who defeated Stanford 14-0 on a pair of fourth-period touchdowns, and Notre Dame, which was idle, are pitted against each other this week in a nationally televised grudge match.

Record Broken
The eighth-rated Fighting Irish appeared destined to win the national championship last season before having their perfect record ruined in the last minute of play by a Southern California touchdown pass. Mike Garrett, who rushed for more than 200 yards in the Trojans' victory over Stanford, carries Southern Cal's hopes to Notre Dame against the Irish.

Blocked Punt Aids Northern In Upset Win
DE PERE — A magnificent defensive performance, and just enough offense to score twice, carried Northern Michigan's Wildcats to a 13-6 victory over the previously unbeaten Green Knights of St. Norbert at Minahan Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats defense intercepted two St. Norbert passes, one on the Northern five yard line, blocked a punt that set up NMU's first touchdown, and four times stopped drives inside the 20 yard line.

That blocked punt, in a charge led by defensive end Byron Johnson of Bessemer, gave the Wildcats possession on the Knights' four. On fourth down, with 1:58 left in the first period, fullback John Spuhler (Sault Ste. Marie) cracked over from the one, and Tony Richardson's placement put the 'Cats in front 7-0.

St. Norbert scored with 3:03 to play in the third period when a fourth down pass interference call in the end zone gave the Knights new life on the Northern 20. Art Fisher scored the TD, but NMU still led 7-6, when John Skibba's kick was wide.

Northern's second touchdown capped a 55-yard drive in nine plays in the final stanza. A 29-yard pass from Bill Sauter (Iron Mountain) to Dave Fleet set up the score, and Fleet slashed over from the three to put the Wildcats ahead 13-6 with 7:45 left.

A pair of fine punts by Bob Beardsley and a pass interception by Phil DePerro contained St. Norbert the rest of the game.

The win upped Northern's record to 5-1, while the loss was the first for St. Norbert after five straight wins.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Wepner, 22-year old Bayonne, N.J., heavyweight who won the 1964 National Golden Gloves title, will meet Bob Stallings of Freeport, N.Y., Tuesday night in a six-round bout at the Sunnyside Garden. Wepner is unbeaten in six professional bouts.

Pickford Rips Engadine 40-0 In East Clash
ENGADINE — The Engadine Eagles couldn't get untracked here Saturday afternoon as they suffered a 40-0 whipping from the Pickford Panthers in an Eastern Upper Peninsula football conference contest.

The teams battled to a 0-0 deadlock through the first period before Pickford broke the ice on a 10 yard run by John Bennis. The Panthers tallied again on a one yard plunge by Paul Harrison to take a 13-0 cushion into the halftime intermission.

The Eagles continued their outstanding defensive play into the third period before Bennis broke loose for a 13 yard run to spread the margin to 19-0 entering the final quarter.

Jerry LaJoie, Neil Harrison, Darryl Houghton and Paul Harrison rambled for touchdowns to turn the game into a rout in the stretch.

Northwood exploded for 28 points in the third quarter to whip Eastern Illinois. Mike Eckert scored one touchdown on a 96-yard pass from Mike DeChane and Bob Benjamin tallied twice for the winners.

Albion rode to its 28-12 victory on the arm of quarterback Dave Nielson, who fired four touchdown passes.

Arkansas Rally Catches Texas In Grid Classic

By United Press International
The Arkansas Razorbacks, who defeated Texas 27-24 last weekend, can afford the luxury of a grim smile knowing that the worst is probably over, but most of the nation's other top teams can only shudder at what awaits them this Saturday.

Third-ranked Arkansas jumped off to a 20-0 lead in the second quarter, but then had to come from behind late in the fourth period after Texas went ahead 24-20.

As gloom was settling over the 42,000 partisan fans at Fayetteville, Ark., quarterback Jon Brittenum came into direct the Razorbacks on an 80-yard scoring drive, with only 92 seconds left. Brittenum plunged one yard to give Arkansas the longest unbeaten streak in the country, 17 consecutive victories.

Number One
Jubilant Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles announced with his accustomed calmness, "I think the team has qualified to be rated No. 1."

However, Nebraska made a strong bid to keep the top spot for at least another week by mauling Kansas State 41-0, and Michigan State put on a performance that might earn a promotion from the No. 4 ranking by crushing Ohio State 32-7.

In other games, Georgia (5) lost to Florida State 10-3; Purdue, tied for sixth with Southern California, edged Michigan 17-15; Memphis State routed heavily favored and ninth-ranked Mississippi State 33-13 and Florida, ranked 10th beat North Carolina State 28-6.

The Trojans from Southern California, who defeated Stanford 14-0 on a pair of fourth-period touchdowns, and Notre Dame, which was idle, are pitted against each other this week in a nationally televised grudge match.

Record Broken
The eighth-rated Fighting Irish appeared destined to win the national championship last season before having their perfect record ruined in the last minute of play by a Southern California touchdown pass. Mike Garrett, who rushed for more than 200 yards in the Trojans' victory over Stanford, carries Southern Cal's hopes to Notre Dame against the Irish.

Blocked Punt Aids Northern In Upset Win
DE PERE — A magnificent defensive performance, and just enough offense to score twice, carried Northern Michigan's Wildcats to a 13-6 victory over the previously unbeaten Green Knights of St. Norbert at Minahan Stadium Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats defense intercepted two St. Norbert passes, one on the Northern five yard line, blocked a punt that set up NMU's first touchdown, and four times stopped drives inside the 20 yard line.

That blocked punt, in a charge led by defensive end Byron Johnson of Bessemer, gave the Wildcats possession on the Knights' four. On fourth down, with 1:58 left in the first period, fullback John Spuhler (Sault Ste. Marie) cracked over from the one, and Tony Richardson's placement put the 'Cats in front 7-0.

St. Norbert scored with 3:03 to play in the third period when a fourth down pass interference call in the end zone gave the Knights new life on the Northern 20. Art Fisher scored the TD, but NMU still led 7-6, when John Skibba's kick was wide.

Northern's second touchdown capped a 55-yard drive in nine plays in the final stanza. A 29-yard pass from Bill Sauter (Iron Mountain) to Dave Fleet set up the score, and Fleet slashed over from the three to put the Wildcats ahead 13-6 with 7:45 left.

A pair of fine punts by Bob Beardsley and a pass interception by Phil DePerro contained St. Norbert the rest of the game.

The win upped Northern's record to 5-1, while the loss was the first for St. Norbert after five straight wins.

Pickford Rips Engadine 40-0 In East Clash
ENGADINE — The Engadine Eagles couldn't get untracked here Saturday afternoon as they suffered a 40-0 whipping from the Pickford Panthers in an Eastern Upper Peninsula football conference contest.

The teams battled to a 0-0 deadlock through the first period before Pickford broke the ice on a 10 yard run by John Bennis. The Panthers tallied again on a one yard plunge by Paul Harrison to take a 13-0 cushion into the halftime intermission.

The Eagles continued their outstanding defensive play into the third period before Bennis broke loose for a 13 yard run to spread the margin to 19-0 entering the final quarter.

Jerry LaJoie, Neil Harrison, Darryl Houghton and Paul Harrison rambled for touchdowns to turn the game into a rout in the stretch.

Olivet broke a 14-14 halftime tie with a third period touchdown and then withstood Alma's desperation drive in the closing minutes for a 20-14 win.

Northwood exploded for 28 points in the third quarter to whip Eastern Illinois. Mike Eckert scored one touchdown on a 96-yard pass from Mike DeChane and Bob Benjamin tallied twice for the winners.

Albion rode to its 28-12 victory on the arm of quarterback Dave Nielson, who fired four touchdown passes.

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The Michigan State Polish Bowling Association announced Sunday that Port Huron has been selected for the 1967 bowling tournament. About 1,500 players participate annually in the tournament.

It will be the first time Port Huron will host the tournament in its 24-year history. Directors from 17 cities in the association concluded their two-day annual meeting here Sunday.

The 1966 tournament will be held at the Grand Rapids' Cluque Lanes. The association also approved April 16 as opening date for the tournament here next spring.

Walter Pikrywka of Hamtramck was elected president of the association; Eddie Danowski, Grand Rapids, first vice president and Frank Paszkiewicz of Saginaw, second vice president.

The four-man executive board chosen includes: Harry Ezop, Saginaw, Ed Kalowski of Saginaw, Vince Seidel of Flint and Ed Kudla, Hamtramck. Eugene Madaj of Madison Heights, Eugene Smigiel, Grand Rapids and John Cochran of Flint were elected to the three-man board of trustees.

However, the 35-year-old fighter, who began his climb to the title 17 years ago in New York, seems to have found success despite his lack of effort.

In the early days, Giardello often entered the ring without much preparation and chose to get by with a dancing style that bewildered his opponents. He developed this style until he was able to bewilder even Tiger, who says this time it will be a different story.

Giardello, whose license to fight in New York was suspended in 1956 by the athletic commission for alleged underworld connections and a minor scrape with the law, was granted a new license earlier this year to return to the state where he gained his early fame.

When Giardello announced his plans to fight Tiger, the champion hardly looked capable of trimming down to the 160-pound limit, but he succeeded long before the weigh-in.

Tiger, who lost the title to Giardello at Atlantic City, says, "I had a bad night there. I'll put more pressure on him and punch a lot more. This time will be different."

However, Giardello remains confident despite a jinx that has hovered over middleweight champions in New York title fights. The last three middleweight championship bouts in New York have resulted in new champions, but Joey, who now lives in Cherry Hill, N. J., says, "I'm too happy to be back in New York to worry about New York being a jinx."

The champion, who also split with Tiger in a pair of 10-round non-title fights, adds, "I'm in better shape for this fight than I was for the last one. I think I should beat him even easier this time."

Late TD Surge By Tigers Tops Little Giants
ROCK — The Rock Little Giants played their best game of the season here Friday but ran out of gas in the fourth quarter to bow to the Powers-Spaulding Tigers, 10-13, in Wolverine Conference competition.

The Tigers retained their tie for the conference lead with Pembine by scoring five touchdowns in the fourth quarter. Powers led by an 8-7 margin entering the final period.

David Smith ran for three touchdowns and passed for another to pace Coach Tom LeQuia's Tigers. Mike Folcik, Scott Reidy and James Bonty hit paydirt for the winners. George Micheau plunged one yard and Ray Leach ran seven yards for the Rock touchdowns with Jim Lippens scoring the extra point.

Joey To Defend Against Tiger Thursday Night

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello makes no bones about the fact that he would rather fight than train.

Giardello, who always avoided training as much as possible, wound up his practice sessions Sunday for his title fight Thursday against Nigerian Dick Tiger at Madison Square Garden.

The champion, who once left training camp and skipped out of town shortly before a title shot, is making his first appearance in New York in more than nine years against the man who lost the crown to Giardello in December 1963 and has been promised a much-delayed return bout ever since.

Giardello, who has defended the title only once, against Rubin (Hurricane) Carter, said he reached the peak of condition more than a week ago and even had to lay off practice for a few days so he wouldn't be overtrained.

However, the 35-year-old fighter, who began his climb to the title 17 years ago in New York, seems to have found success despite his lack of effort.

In the early days, Giardello often entered the ring without much preparation and chose to get by with a dancing style that bewildered his opponents. He developed this style until he was able to bewilder even Tiger, who says this time it will be a different story.

All Goes Wrong For Esky In 27-7 Loss To Marines

Anzalone Hits Haack With Touchdown Pass

By RAY CRANDALL
(Press Sports Editor)

MARINETTE — The Escanaba Eskimos couldn't win here Saturday night. Everything they did went wrong and everything the Marinette Marines did went right as the Wisconsin team registered a 27-7 victory.

The one exception was a beautifully executed pass play from quarterback Steve Anzalone to halfback Bob Haack that went for a 69 yard touchdown in the second period. A picture block by Paul Miller paved the way for Haack's escape along the sidelines.

Otherwise, it was a night of complete frustration for the Eskimos who went down to their fourth setback against three victories in this injury-plagued campaign. Every break in the game went Marinette's way—and the Eskimos would have needed some mighty fortunate happenings to beat the big, fast and deep Marine outfit.

First Tough Break

The first tough break for Esky came in the first quarter when punter Paul Miller fumbled a snap from center and Marinette took over on the Escanaba 15. It was a hole the Eskimos never got out of, although they stalled Marinette's initial drive on the 7 yard line. Shortly before the end of the first period Marinette fullback Jeff Zeratzky squirted off right tackle and boomed 31 yards for a touchdown. Quarterback, Clark Boren kicked the point and Marinette had a 7-0 advantage.

Midway in the second period the Eskimos came to life with the 69 yard payoff pass play from Anzalone to Haack, with Miller's timely assist. Jim Hansen toed the extra point and the Eskimos had themselves a 7-7 deadlock.

Clark Throws Bomb

It looked like that score would hold up for the first half, but it didn't. Unable to penetrate the Escanaba Eskimos ground defense, Marinette took to the air and Boren threw his second pass of the game. To Escanaba's dismay, he hit Ed Ernie Nelson behind the Esky offense and Marinette had a touchdown with only 35 seconds remaining in the half. Boren booted the extra point and the score was 14-7.

After an exchange of punts in the third quarter Escanaba took command and barged 67 yards in nine plays with Anzalone flipping strikes to Ed Gauthier, Bob Haack and Bob Irish while Jack Long and Ray Payment ripped off solid ground gains.

But once again the Eskimos found themselves playing against a stacked deck. A questionable fumble by Haack was recovered by Tim Cox on the Marinette 4 yard line to squelch the threat.

From that spot the Marinette machine punched out 96 yards, aided by a 15 yard personal foul following a swinging exchange at midfield. Fullback capped the drive with a four yard plunge, Boren kicked the point and instead of a possible 14-14 tie the Eskimos trailed 21-7.

Anzalone, who had connected on seven straight passes, missed two targets and fumbled a snap from center with Steve Zylkowski recovering on the Escanaba 41 midway through the final period.

Marinette drove it home with Jerry Peterson going the last three yards to make it 27-7.

The teams exchanged pass interceptions in the closing minutes, with Rick Schoener stealing an Anzalone loss and Paul Miller swiping a Schoener aerial on the final play of the game.

Iron Mountain Next — The Marines were tough to run against and Escanaba's ground game accounted for only 44 yards. Marinette, on the other hand, chewed up 271 yards with a versatile rushing attack in which seven backs carried the ball.

In the air, Anzalone connected on 8 of 11 for a hefty 163 yards. Boren threw five times and completed three for 104 yards. The total net yardage from scrimmage came to 375 for Marinette, 207 for Escanaba.

The Eskimos will return home for a Great Northern Conference game with Iron Mountain Saturday.

Mustangs Trip Gladstone 6-0 In Great Lakes

MUNISING — The Munising Mustangs galloped into first place in the Great Lakes Conference football race here Saturday by nipping the Gladstone Braves, 6-0, in a photo finish.

Coach Bill Earle's gridders copped the decision with a touchdown by fullback Jim Stangel with a minute left in the grueling defensive battle. Stangel blasted over from the two yard line to cap a 45 yard drive.

The Mustangs got their opportunity for victory when they intercepted a Mark Goodman aerial in the fading moments of the game.

Following the TD, Gladstone's Roy DeWitt blocked the kick for the extra point and the Braves mounted a stirring drive that reached the Munising 15 before the final gun.

Both teams staged a pair of serious scoring threats in the old fashioned, head knocking contest. Coach Don Potenhauer's Braves opened the fourth quarter with a long march that sputtered on the Munising seven yard line. The Braves needed two yards on a fourth down situation and failed to make it. The drive started on the Gladstone 35.

Munising's first threat came in the closing minutes of the first half. The Mustangs drove to the Gladstone 1 foot line before the Braves took over.

Bill Potvin and Gary Larson, combining for 32 tackles. Defensive ends, Larry Green and Dick Anderson turned outstanding performances in containing Munising's outside running game.

Halfback Tom Stade again paced the Gladstone attack. The fast stepping junior lugged the leather 15 times against Munising's big front line and came up with 62 yards.

In all, Gladstone gained 86 yards on the ground and 66 in the air as Goodman connected on 5 of 13 tosses.

The setback knocks Gladstone out of the running for the Great Lakes Conference championship, but Munising is now in position to grab all the marbles.

The Mustangs have lost only once in conference competition, bowing to Manistique, 26-13, in the second game of the campaign.

The Mustangs have chalked up Great Lakes victories over Marquette, Newberry and Gladstone and a triumph over Negaunee Saturday would put them in the conference throne room.

Both Negaunee and Soo suffered their first conference setbacks Saturday. The Miners were upset, 6-0, by Newberry and the Blue Devils bowed to the Ishpeming Hematites. Soo and Negaunee had previously played to a 7-7 deadlock.

World Cup Match

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—The Soviet Union scored a 3-1 victory over Denmark Sunday giving the Russian team a total of 10 points in the five World Cup matches it has played. A crowd of 33,500 saw Denmark surprise Russia with the quality of its game although the Russians never were in serious danger of losing the contest.

BART STARR, Green Bay quarterback, is down but not out in this action shot taken in the second quarter of the National Football League game against the Lions at Detroit Sunday. Packers Have Own Lucky Starr (Bart)

By United Press International
It's not hard to figure out how the Green Bay Packers keep winning—they have their own lucky Starr.

This Starr has the first name of Bart and it is largely through his efforts that the Packers are resting comfortably on top of the National Football League's Western Conference with a 5-0 record. The former Alabama quarterback came through for the second consecutive week Sunday, passing for three touchdowns and running for another in leading the Packers to a 31-21 comeback victory over the Detroit Lions.

Quarterbacks played a major part in most of Sunday's other NFL action as New York upended Philadelphia 35-27, Cleveland edged Dallas 23-17, Chicago tripped Minnesota 45-37, San Francisco walloped Los Angeles 45-21, St. Louis clipped Pittsburgh 20-7 and Baltimore trounced Washington 38-7.

Starr Passing

Starr, whose passing and running paced the Packers to victory over San Francisco in their previous game, brought Green Bay back from a 21-3 halftime deficit with third-quarter touchdown tosses to Carroll Dale, Bob Long and Tom Moore. He then scored the Packers' final touchdown in the final period on a four-yard scamper after two consecutive 15-yard penalties against Detroit had moved the ball near the goal line.

Before Starr took command, it looked as if the Lions would enjoy their biggest day of the season. Milt Plum moved the team more than 200 yards during the first half and connected on scoring passes with Ron Kramer and Terry Barr.

Earl Morrill, a former Lion, enjoyed his finest afternoon of the campaign, hurling four touchdown passes to lead the Giants to their second straight victory over the Eagles. Morrill hit seven of his first 11 passes, including 10 tosses to Aaron Thomas, Joe Morrison, Homer Jones and Bobby Crespi. King Hill turned in a solid performance for Philadelphia with 23 completions in 41 attempts for 311 yards, but four interceptions by Giant defenders led to his downfall.

Pinpoint passing by Frank Ryan, a solid defense and three field goals by Lou Groza enabled the Browns to upend the Cowboys. Ryan connected on a 29-yard touchdown pass to Walt Roberts and passed the Browns into position for two of Groza's field goals. The Cleveland defense also forced the Cowboys to punt 10 of the 14 times they had the ball.

Don Meredith, however, managed to throw two touchdown passes in a losing cause.

Rookie Sayers

Rookie halfback Gale Sayers provided the fireworks as Chicago upset Minnesota. The former Kansas All-America scored four touchdowns in the second half, including two in the final two minutes to bring the Bears back from an apparent defeat. Minnesota led 37-31 when Sayers ran the kickoff back 36 yards to put Chicago in the lead. Then, after Dick Butkus intercepted a pass deep in Viking territory, Sayers sprinted over from the 10 to sew up the contest.

The 49ers "Big Three" of John Brodie, John David Crow and rookie Ken Willard combined for the victory over Los Angeles. Brodie connected on three scoring passes while Crow and Willard each scored two touchdowns. San Francisco gave the Rams a td in the opening quarter when Brodie fumbled in the end zone and rookie tackle Frank Molden fell on it for a Ram score, but then the 49ers went to work and opened a 28-7 halftime edge.

Two touchdown passes by Charles Johnson and two field goals by Jim Baaken provided all the offense the Cardinals needed in turning back winless Pittsburgh. Johnson clicked with Sonny Randle in the first period and again with Bobby Joe Conrad in the final quarter while all the Steelers could muster was a five-yard scoring run by Gary Ballman in the first quarter.

The Colts took advantage of innumerable Redskins mistakes and got two touchdown passes from Johnny Unitas in their one-sided victory. Unitas hit John Mackey with a 34-yard score in the first period and engineered another td drive in the second quarter to get the Colts off to a big lead. Washington's only score came in the second period on a brilliant 27-yard run by quarterback Sonny Jurgensen.

Altitude Test Ends In Mexico Olympic Games

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The Little Olympics are over and the experts from each nation can now evaluate their findings to discover if the altitude of this city hurt their athletes.

Mexico unofficially won the week-long games staged expressly to dispel fears that deaths might be expected in the 1968 Olympics.

Unofficially and arbitrarily counting gold medals as three points, silver medals as two and bronze medals as one, Mexico piled up 68 points (8 gold, 13 silver and 18 bronze), Italy had 57 (8, 13 and 7), the United States wound up with 56 (5, 15 and 11), Russia scored 48 (13, 3 and 3) and France garnered 39 (6, 5 and 11). Twenty-one nations sent more than 200 athletes to compete in men's and women's events.

Jamison Medal

Cathy Jamison of Portland, Ore., won the gold medal that put the United States ahead of Russia. She covered the 400-meter medley in five minutes, 51.8 seconds, the fastest any woman has swum that event in Mexico. Presumably the altitude did not hurt her.

Miss Jamison overtook Veronika Holletz in the third lap and won by one-fourth a pool length over Danielle Dorleans of France, who was named the top female swimmer in the meet. Miss Holletz finished third, and Sharon Finnerman, who swam on the record-breaking women's 400-meter relay team, was fourth.

The women's 400-meter relay squad won the fifth gold medal for the United States, covering the distance in 4:32.1, a Mexican record. The other three members were Patricia Sherman of Upper Montclair, N.J., Toni Hewitt of Newport Beach, Calif., and Lynn Allsup of Bloomington, Ill.

The U.S. men's 800-meter relay team of Dana Curtis of Houston, Steve Krause of Seattle, Frank Bates of La Crecencia, Calif., and Greg Charlton of Los Angeles took a silver medal in the event won by Japan. A photo-finish gave second place to Charlton, who touched the pool wall an eyelash ahead of Italy's Pietro Boscanini. Charlton was tabbed the best male swimmer at the meet.

Thin Air

Mexico City lies in a valley 7,349 feet above sea level, more than a third of a mile higher than Denver and 1,042 feet higher than St. Moritz, the Swiss Alp resort.

Spartans Meet Purdue In Top Big Ten Battle

CHICAGO (UPI)—Michigan State, which wasn't supposed to have a chance for the Big Ten football championship, and Purdue, which was given the best chance, clash Saturday to clarify the issue.

Michigan State, fourth-ranked nationally and Big Ten leader with a 5-0 record, is the conference's only unbeaten and untied team against all competition.

Purdue, tied by Southern Methodist and barely a winner in two league matches, has a No. 6 national rating and owes its perfect conference record to a 17-15 victory over Michigan in the final 55 seconds of Saturday's game.

The Spartans made no bones about disposing of Michigan, mauling their neighbors 24-7 a week earlier. Saturday's 32-7 explosion over Ohio State was their third league success.

In other weekend games, Wisconsin defeated Northwestern 21-7, Illinois belted Indiana 34-13 and Minnesota downed Iowa 14-3.

Michigan State's hero was Clint Jones, who scored on an 80-yard run, longest in the Big Ten this season, caught a touchdown pass and paced all rushers in the game with 235 yards in 16 carries.

But the big man of the game to his teammates and the one who received game ball was middle linebacker Harold Lucas who shouldered the burden of stopping Ohio State's Tom Barrington up the middle while Spartan linemen spread to stop end seeps.

Ohio State was held to minus yardage on the ground for the first time in its football history.

Purdue's Bob Griese kicked a field goal with 55 seconds left for the Boilermakers' margin. Earlier, he threw touchdown passes to Jim Finley and Jim Biene.

Dennis Lager and Chuck Burt, two sophomore backs, paced Wisconsin over Northwestern. Lager scored two touchdowns and Burt scored one with a pass.

The rushing record set by the fabled Red Grange at the University of Illinois in the early mid 20s bit the dust Saturday when fullback Jim Grabowski put 180 yards behind him at Indiana's expense.

Grabowski, who scored two touchdowns, walked off the field with a total of 2,076 yards, five yards better than Grange could do in three years with the Illini. Grabowski, a senior, has five more games to play.

The 1966 Woman's International Bowling Congress tournament will be held in New Orleans, starting April 14. The 1967 tournament will be held in Rochester, N. Y.

Our Best Game, Elliott Labels Third UM Loss

DETROIT (UPI)—"We played our best game of the year but we couldn't win," said Coach Bump Elliott after his Michigan team had lost its third straight football game Saturday.

And it was a tough game for the Wolverines to lose. After four games filled with mistakes, penalties, fumbles and pass interceptions the defending Big Ten champs had played good football.

The only problem was the Purdue quarterback, Bob Griese, who seemed to have a hand-off foot in everything going on in Michigan Stadium.

Michigan had taken the lead on Carl Ward's 17 yard run in the second quarter but Griese came back with two touchdown passes early in the second half. Then when Michigan took the lead 15-14 on a touchdown and a field goal, Griese performed his usual ritual. He marched the Boilermakers down the field, then with only 55 seconds left he kicked a 35-yard field goal for the win.

The loss dropped Michigan to eighth place in the Big Ten and any success they may envision for the remainder of the year would have to be classified as "spoiler" wins.

Their first chance will be this Saturday when they travel to Minneapolis to face the Minnesota Gophers, who currently carry a 2-0 Big Ten mark and could show up as a dark horse challenger unless some team, such as Michigan, can quell their ambitions.

Quarterback Wally Gahler, who led Michigan's second half comeback against Purdue, will probably hold onto the starting job against the Gophers in the traditional battle for the Little Brown Jug.

In the 55 games between the two teams, Michigan has a substantial margin of 33 wins to 19 for Minnesota. Three have ended in ties.

LBJ Worried About Protests

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson is deeply concerned about demonstrations against U.S. policy in Viet Nam because they might be misinterpreted by American adversaries as reflecting the nation's mood, the White House said today.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said the President had conferred by telephone with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach about his investigation into possible Communist involvement in the demonstrations.

Moyers said he was sure that Johnson wanted Katzenbach and the Justice Department to bring the investigation to a conclusion as soon as possible.

"The president feels concerned as strongly as that expressed by the Attorney General... concern that even well-meaning demonstrators can become victims of exploitation," Moyers said.

Katzenbach telephoned the President at the Bethesda Naval Hospital during the weekend to report on his investigation.

Congress Works To Clear Final Legislative Bits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The first session of the 89th Congress, a record pile of legislation behind it, worked today to clear up remaining "bits and pieces" and—perhaps—adjourn by the end of the week.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., cautiously set next weekend as a target date — "with luck."

But he told a reporter that sometime next week might be more realistic guess and, "to be safe, by the end of the month." This last would mean two more weeks of work—an unpleasant prospect to both House and Senate where adjournment fever is raging.

Most members were hoping for a final windup by Saturday night. But the Senate faces at least two possible snarls—one over sugar legislation, the other on the controversial nomination of Kennedy intimate Francis X. Morrissey to be a federal judge in Boston.

The House-passed sugar bill would extend the government's long-standing policy of parceling out the U.S. sugar market through quotas to domestic and foreign producers.

It is one of the Johnson administration's last remaining "Mmust" items. And the answer may have to come from Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill.

Dirksen also figured on the fight over the Morrissey nomination.

Opponents challenged both Morrissey's qualifications and what appeared to be a discrepancy in his testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee. Dirksen, a member also of that committee, voted against the nomination and successfully sought to have the Senate vote on confirmation delayed until Tuesday.

Klansman Faces Second Trial In Liuzzo Slaying

HAYNESVILLE, Ala., (UPI)—A youthful Ku Klux Klansman stands trial here today for the second time in the night-rider slaying last spring of white civil rights worker Mrs. Viola Liuzzo.

Collier Leroy Wilkins, a chunky 21-year-old unemployed auto mechanic, is accused along with two other Klansmen of ambushing the Detroit housewife on a lonely stretch of highway in Lowndes County March 25 following the "freedom march" from Selma to Montgomery.

Last May, a jury was unable to reach a decision and Circuit Judge T. Weerth Thagard ordered a new trial.

Kidnap Victim Shot To Death

CLEVELAND (UPI)—A kidnaped woman was shot to death in the waters of the Ohio Canal Sunday when she and a male companion were attempting to escape from one of two gunmen who abducted them from an Akron nightclub.

Police identified the victim as Mrs. Florence Kosciwicz, 46, of suburban Valley View.

Her companion, Harry E. Scott, 38, of Bath, escaped a similar fate by remaining beneath the water as the gunman fired 12 times.

The alleged slayer, Clyde Almeida, 30, of El Monte, Calif., was captured later in Akron. Police said they found a .32 caliber pistol and a wallet belonging to Scott in Almeida's hotel room.

Scott, who identified Almeida as the slayer, told police that Almeida and another man, later identified as Vincent James Podojil, 28, Hollywood, Calif., kidnaped him and Mrs. Kosciwicz at gunpoint while they were chatting in the victim's car shortly after leaving a night club.

Scott said Almeida got into the car and ordered the couple to follow another car parked nearby being driven by Podojil.

As the cars crossed into Independence, an adjacent suburb, police stopped Podojil for a routine check.

Not satisfied with Podojil's replies and credentials, police detained him.

The car with Scott and Mrs. Kosciwicz turned around and went down canal road, where Scott said he and the woman were ordered out.

Scott said Almeida pointed a gun at them and said, "this is it."

"I felt the only chance we had was to jump into the canal," Scott said.

Mrs. Kosciwicz, apparently panicked as Scott tried to hold her under water to escape the gunfire, Scott said she broke loose and when she surfaced, was greeted by a volley of shots from an automatic pistol. She died in the water.

$2 Million For Soo Tech Asked

SAULT STE. MARIE — Michigan Tech Board of Control Friday approved an operating budget request totaling $9,140,000 for the fiscal year beginning next July 1. The request, which now goes to the State, includes $7,965,550 for the main campus at Houghton and $1,174,450 for the Sault campus.

The operating budget request includes $5.9 million for salaries and wages, $997,320 for contractual services, supplies and materials, $1,088,860 for equipment and $451,940 for special maintenance and remodeling.

The proposal also includes substantial increases for special research programs.

The Board authorized application for a $2 million loan from the U. S. Housing and Home Finance for erection of a complex on the Sault campus to include a residence hall for 250 students, a new kitchen and dining room area, student union facilities and married student housing.

The $2 million loan would be added to a fund totaling $215,000 which was pledged earlier by citizens of the Sault Ste. Marie area for the construction of a residence hall on the Sault campus.

For the Sault campus, the Board also:

Approved a budget request for $390,000 to finance the construction of a 15,000 square foot addition to the new science classroom — laboratory building.

Approved two-year associate degree programs in secretarial science and accounting.

By BILL MCCORMICK
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Americans aren't so wide awake.

A lot of them walk around all day half-asleep. And millions of them move around as if they're awake when they are really asleep, according to Dr. Joost A.M. Meerloo.

"There exists no sharp division between being asleep or awake," says the Holland-born psychiatrist. "Many who call themselves awake live automatically without awareness and wakefulness. As Shakespeare put it: 'The eyes are open but their sense is shut.'"

"The clinical estimate is that there are four million sleepwalkers in the United States. Actually, we are all sleepwalkers and walking dreamers."

The associate professor of psychiatry at the New York School of Psychiatry and lecturer in political psychology, New School for Social Research, has made a deep study of sleep — and has come up with some interesting conclusions.

"Many primitive people sleep standing up," he says. "They do lie down because they feel they have to be continually on the alert for enemies. Other primitives squat, some crawl under leaky lean-tos, while others prefer sleeping bags in the open."

"The ancient Romans slept on stone benches. I had to keep myself reminded of this when I slept on a concrete floor in one of my wartime sojourns in jail," recalls Meerloo.

The author of 30 books and more than 400 scientific papers, Meerloo was a member of the Dutch army when the Nazis invaded Holland. When the lowlands were taken, Meerloo joined the underground. He was captured by the Nazis, escaped to England and came back to help reclaim his country.

Meerloo is an authority on brainwashing, as well as sleep. He relates the two subjects in one of his books. "Depriving victims of sleep plays an important part in softening them up to have their minds conditioned," he says.

Although he realizes the importance of sleep, Meerloo does not worry about "insomniacs" who actually spend more time asleep than they know.

"There is a distinct clinical difference between the feeling of not sleeping and actually not sleeping," he says. "You can never rely on a person's estimate and account of sleeping hours. Many who complain of not sleeping well spend hours and hours in a sleeping state."

Meerloo says there are rare individuals who never sleep at all—at least not the way we know slumber. They don't close their eyes or even lie down but rest for periods sitting down with their eyes wide open. They are carrying to the limit the business of actually being asleep while apparently awake.

What we call deep sleep usually is pretty shallow, according to Meerloo. "As a matter of fact, nobody really sleeps like a log," he says. "Even in normal sleep there is a continual moving about. Statistically, the average person makes 35 to 45 movements a night."

Even the most wide-awake person cannot be expected to remain that way for long periods.

"Thanks to experiments, we now realize that men on sentry duty cannot be expected to stay alert for more than three or four hours at a time," Meerloo says. "It is also a warning to drivers of cars that the monotony of driving induces sleep."

'Convenience' Meats Are On The Increase

EAST LANSING — Michigan consumers will not only eat more meat by 1980, but they'll demand more built-in services in their purchases, according to Michigan State University scientists.

The researchers estimate an increase of 65 per cent in beef consumption, 20 per cent more pork and a 27 per cent increase for lamb and mutton between now and 1980. Only veal consumption will decline — to about 25 per cent less than now.

Furthermore, these consumers will be demanding more ready-to-cook, convenience, "heat-and-serve," or "boil-in-bag" processed meat. Items such as pre-fried canned-irradiated bacon, freeze-dried stew and barbecue, and pre-packaged boneless-frozen meat cuts will constitute a greater proportion of sales.

These specially processed meats, say the scientists, will be in limited usage by 1980, but they will be offered to complement fresh meat sales.

They project a tremendous increase — up to 80 per cent — in sales of pre-trimmed, whole-sale meat cuts, prepackaged and convenience items.

These projections were made as part of Project '80, MSU's futuristic look at Michigan's rural potential by 1980. Studying the future of livestock and meat marketing are J. F. Price, food scientist; H. M. Riley, agricultural economist; and W. L. McLeod, marketing agent in Adrian.

They point out that many of the meat "substitutes" experimentally produced from plant proteins in the early 1960's will be in commercial production by 1980. Consumers of these items will be persons requiring special diets and/or people with low incomes.

These "substitutes" will only have a slight effect on the demand for red meat in the next 15 years, say the scientists. But over an extended period, such foods may indeed cut into the total market demand for meat.

PARKING LIGHTS BLINK

CHICAGO (AP) — The automobile parking light may be on its way out.

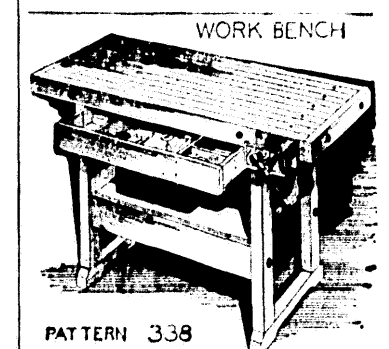

Uniform vehicle codes now are in conflict with the principle of parking lights as some states begin to prohibit the use of them from one-half hour before sunset to one-half hour after sunset.

Ohio and Michigan are among states with headlight-only laws.

"Drivers can see and be seen best when displaying regular headlights," says Sgt. R. E. Kettlewell of the Ohio State Highway patrol.

"Parking lights just don't do any good when you're on the open highway," he said, "and the only reason there should be parking lights on cars is to have turn signal indicators."
